THE WEARIN' O' THE GREEN

All Ireland, With Home Rule in Sight, Observes St. Patrick's Day.

TROOP COLORS AT DUBLIN CASTLE

American Cities Mark the Day by Parades of the Irish Societies.

Dublin, March 17.—St. Patrick's day was celebrated throughout Ireland with the unusual enthusiasm because of the promise of home rule at an early date.

The trooping of the colors at Dublin castle was carried out with elaborate ceremony.

Queen Mother Alexandra sent her customary present of Shamrock to the Irish guards, every soldier of whom was bedecked with a spray when on parade.

CHICAGO KEEPS THE DAY.

Chicago, March 17.—Every office in the city hall, except the police and fire departments, were closed today in honor of Ireland's patron saint, it being the first time in seventeen years that the city officials closed their offices on this occasion. Part of the Cook county officials likewise abandoned work for the day. No parade was held in Chicago today.

IN NEW YORK.

New York, March 17.—Bright, clear weather aided in making New York's celebration of St. Patrick's day one of the biggest and best in recent years. As usual the parade on Fifth avenue was the chief event of the day. There was no variation from the usual procedure of having the old "fighting 90th regiment" of the national guard head the parade, which included 50,000 men.

Archbishop Farley at St. Patrick's Cathedral reviewed the parade.

IN INDIANAPOLIS.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 17.—A parade which it is said will be more than a mile long will feature the celebration of St. Patrick's day in Indianapolis. The observance will conclude with a mass meeting of all Irish societies in Tomlinson hall tonight. Many of the stores have decorated their windows in green and shamrocks for the day.

FAMOUS ENGINEER HERE.

Leonard Metcalf in Conference With River Front Commission.

Leonard Metcalf, of the firm of Metcalf & Eddy, sanitary engineers, Boston, arrived in the city this afternoon for a brief conference with President C. H. Worden and other members of the River Front commission. Mr. Metcalf came to Fort Wayne from Vincennes, and will leave early this evening for New York. He is one of the engineers who have been under consideration as advisor to the river front commission in the civic improvements contemplated in this city.

EXPRESS STRIKE HAS EXPANSION

Wells Fargo Drivers and Helpers Join the Big Labor Protest.

CONDITIONS ARE BAD

New York, March 17.—Drivers and helpers of the Adams, United States and Wells-Fargo express companies in New York city and Jersey City struck today in obedience to a general strike order issued in Jersey City shortly after last midnight. Employes of the American and National express companies reported for work as usual, but leaders of the strikers declared they expected them to join the walkout during the day. The strike it is said will involve upward of five thousand men and affect many others. In the event of a prolonged conflict a serious tie up of express traffic in this city will result. The strike started several days ago with the men of the Adams company, who complained of alleged discrimination against certain employes involved in the recent strike last fall. It was believed late yesterday that a settlement of the difficulty between the Adams men and the company was in prospect through the promise of the leaders that the men would return to work pending discussion of settlement terms which Mayor Gaynor had promised to bring about.

This plan, however, was overturned at a meeting of delegates of the various companies last night in Jersey City when it was decided not only to keep the Adams men out but to extend the strike sympathetically to the men of other companies.

Trouble began early in New York when an Adams driver was pulled from his seat and severely beaten. Two arrests followed.

THREE BURN TO DEATH.

Hazleton, Pa., March 17.—Three sons of John Gallaus, a miner, were burned to death early today in a fire that destroyed the Gallaus home at Honeybrook, Pa. The victims were asleep on the second floor and could not escape.

KEEP STEP TO IRISH MELODY

Sons of Emerald Isle in Annual St. Patrick's Day Parade.

FORT WAYNE IS WEARING GREEN

Rev. Father Hayes in Sermon at St. Patrick's—The Program Tonight.

Marching away to the quick step time of the old melodies that delight every Irish heart, sons of the Emerald Isle and their descendants in Fort Wayne inaugurated the annual observance of St. Patrick's day today

JOSEPH W. KENNEY,
Who Delivers Address at Library Hall Tonight.

with a parade. Following it were religious services, both at St. Patrick's church and at the Cathedral. This evening at Library hall the United Irish societies will participate in a program of music and addresses with Hon. Joseph W. Kenney, of Indianapolis, as the principal speaker. His theme will be "The Struggles and Triumphs of the Irish People."

Fort Wayne is very generally participating in "the wearing o' the green" today in honor of the anniversary. Down town many of the business houses are draped in the Emerald hue of Ireland entwined with the stars and stripes, shop window displays give recognition to the holiday and hundreds of people are wearing a sprig of Shamrock or a bit of green ribbon in honor of the day.

Irish Societies March

Headed by the Citizens' band, the annual parade got away promptly at 8:30 o'clock this morning, in the line being the Hibernian Rifles and the several divisions of the Ancient Order of Hibernians. The route extended from Lewis and Calhoun, east on Lewis to Clinton, north on Clinton past the episcopal residence to Jefferson, west on Jefferson to Calhoun, north on Calhoun to Wayne, east on Wayne to Barr, north on Barr to Berry, west on Berry to Court, north on Court to Main, west on Main to Calhoun, south on Calhoun to Berry, west on Berry to Fairfield, south on Fairfield to DeWald and east on DeWald to St. Patrick's church.

Those were good old Irish tunes the band played along the line of march, and the ranks moved with a sprightly dash and go that made it evident that the hearts of the marchers were clearly in the effort. St. Patrick's church was completely filled, and here Rev. Father Joseph F. Delaney, the pastor, celebrated high mass, while the sermon was delivered by Rev. Father Dennis A. Hayes, pastor of St. Charles' Catholic church at Coldwater, Mich.

Father Hayes' Sermon.

Taking for his text, "Unto you it is given for Christ not only to believe in Him, but to suffer for Him," Rev. Father Hayes urged upon his hearers more devotion in spreading the teachings of the church. In part he said:

"The mission of Jesus Christ was to go out into the world and to explain the truths of His eternal Father. The truth which He came to give to man was a divine truth, and it was this divine truth which He gave the twelve apostles the power to spread. Calling them unto Him He said 'To you it is given to know the mysteries of the kingdom of God, and to spread this truth to the children of all nations even unto the end of time.' These twelve apostles were the ambassadors of Jesus Christ, and they went into the world, giving up home, wives and children, and suffering untold hardships that they might spread the teaching of Christ. The legacy to teach these truths has been handed down as a legacy to every age, though it is not given that those who teach these truths shall suffer as did the twelve apostles.

"The glorious day dawned for the Emerald Isle when St. Patrick landed upon the shores, and this great son of Christ came into the children and spread among them the true virtues of Christ. St. Patrick, one of the mighty men raised up to give the people the divine truths said unto them, 'Unto you it is given through me to know Jesus Christ.' It was granted him to have an extra length of years and he proved the spirit of the apostles, by undergoing hardship and suffering, and the people of the Emerald Isle showed their love of Jesus Christ by accepting

THE FLAG OF IRELAND,
A.D. Century of the Christian era.

One of Oldest National Emblems in the World, Antedating Most Others Hundreds of Years.

Though the flag of Ireland is one of the oldest national emblems in the world, antedating by hundreds of years that of virtually all the other nations, the historic and sentimental interest that surrounds it is probably known to few persons outside of really patriotic Hibernians. This absorbing story is briefly narrated in the reading matter on an old print showing the gradations of the flag herewith reproduced.

The arrival of a Milesian colony from the city of Miletus in Asia Minor, bringing to Erin the knowledge of letters and elements of civilization, witnessed also the raising of the first flag that ever floated as a national banner over the Emerald Isle. That was five hundred years before the Christian era. Green was the color selected as the basis of the emblem, standing as a symbol of the ground and the Asiatic origin of the people. The sun was placed upon it as an emblem of their religion, they being fire worshippers. The harmonious blending of the design and the color appealed to the Celts, and they adopted it as the insignia which has inspired patriotism for centuries.

The harp became a part of the flag in the first year of the Christian era, when Ireland was visited by the celebrated Timotheus, a famous musician and poet and a descendant of Timotheus of Miletus. His music so enraptured the people that they determined to honor him by placing the harp upon the banner, and amid great pomp and ceremony this was done by removing half the sun from it, showing that half the people worshipped the sun and the other half the God of David. This was the first step toward Christianity in Ireland.

St. Patrick's speech to a vast assemblage at Tara Hall on Easter Sunday of the Christian era 432 was marked by the erasure of the half sun from the flag and the substitution of the Shamrock. To illustrate how the Trinity could be St. Patrick stopped his eloquent discourse and picked up a sprig of Shamrock, showing to the assembly three distinct leaves on one stalk. The Shamrock design was made of white to represent the robe the saint and his apostles wore.

In the tenth century the color of the harp and Shamrock was changed to yellow, following the great battle with the Danes, the Irish forces being led to victory by the celebrated Brian Borrhoime, who was slain as he gave thanks for the triumph. Before the battle the Princess of Erin presented to Colonel O'Donohue, who commanded Brian's favorite regiment, a superb banner she had worked with yellow silk, much prized by the king. The flag thus remained up to the first of January, 1800, when the union with England was consummated.

CRIME WAVE AT THE BEND

Two Men Dead and Another Dying as Result of Violence.

SOUTH BEND HAS PAIR OF MURDERS

Two Men Ambushed as They Go Home—General News of the State.

South Bend, Ind., March 17.—Stephen Markovic and Stephen Zanon, well known Hungarians, were ambushed late last night as they were on their way home, Markovic being killed and Zanon probably fatally wounded. John Horvath was arrested within a half hour of the murder and his brother, Stephen, also is being sought. The four men quarreled recently at a dance and the brothers are suspected of the attack.

The murder of Markovic was the second within twelve hours in South Bend, John O'Conner having been killed in a mysterious saloon brawl yesterday. The police found his body behind a stove with his skull crushed.

The police have arrested William Kuraczkiewicz for the murder of O'Conner and found on him a piece of rubber hose with which it is alleged the crime was committed.

BITES OFF HIS TONGUE.

Evansville, Ind., March 17.—Albert Henschelman, 17 years old, living near here, fell from a wagon. His chin struck the ground violently and his teeth were driven through his tongue, which was severed. His condition is serious.

KILLED BY STREET CAR.

Michigan City, Ind., March 17.—Joseph Wagner, aged 50, a farmer, was killed and his employe, Frank Siwskowski, was seriously injured late last night when the wagon in which they were driving homeward was struck by a street car and demolished. Wagner died almost instantly. The employe is in the hospital and may die.

HAD BOTH LEGS CUT OFF.

South Bend, Ind., March 17.—Harry McLean, of Bloomington, Del., had both his legs cut off just below the knees last night while attempting to board a westbound Grand Trunk freight train. He is in a serious condition and his recovery is doubtful.

HIGH SCHOOL SENIORS FIRED.

Evansville, Ind., March 17.—Senior class spirit in the Evansville high school received a sore blow today when six members of the class of 1911 were expelled by the board of education for painting their class numerals in large red letters on the main entrance of the high school building. The boys expelled are Stephen Cook, Robert Stilwell, John Spencer, Harold Kraft, George Flentke and Charles Wilder. All are of prominent families.

BROKEN BACK REPAIRED.

Lafayette, Ind., March 17.—Samuel Jenkins, whose spinal column was twisted and broken by being caught under a descending elevator, doubling him up like a jack knife, at Colfax, Wednesday, underwent an operation at a local hospital today in which his spinal column was straightened and repaired. If Jenkins recovers, it is said, he will be the first man who ever survived such an injury and operation.

GAUNTT COMPANY KICKING.

Want Use of Continuous Concrete Mixers Continued by City.

Representatives of the F. G. Gauntt Manufacturing company were before the board of public works today to ask a revocation of the order recently issued to stop the use of continuous concrete mixers in public work. The board decided that it is unable to get an even mixture with the required amount of cement in the continuous machines and insisted on batch mixers. An effort was made to demonstrate that the Gauntt mixer is so constructed as to overcome the objection and the board took the matter under advisement.

MAKE RECORD IN SHORTEST MONTH

Work in Panama Ditch Was Some Digging During February.

WORK GOING FASTER

Washington, March 17.—The excavation in the central division of the Panama canal, including the great Culebra cut and the Chagres section, during February was the greatest on record, being 1,409,338 cubic yards. Altogether in that division 71,033,522 yards have been excavated, leaving 26,091,496 yards to be removed.

Taking the canal as a whole, up to March 1, there had been taken out 131,829,436 yards, leaving to be excavated 50,708,330 yards.

The canal at the Pacific entrance is completed from deep water to a point opposite the Panama railroad wharf at Balboa, a distance of about five miles. Inland from this point the open water channel extends three miles, varying from thirty feet to forty-five feet in depth, and certain sections have been excavated to its final width of 500 feet.

In the Atlantic entrance to the canal the channel is completed to its full width of 500 feet.

The Gatun dam, the greatest in the world, is about 60 per cent completed. The concrete work on the locks at Pedro Miguel is over 67 per cent completed and about 11 per cent of the concrete is in place at the Miraflores locks.

Bids for the six emergency dams to safeguard all of the permanent locks in the canal will be opened in Washington March 30.

SOUTH BEND WANTS EDITORS.

South Bend, Ind., March 17.—The South Bend chamber of commerce has sent Charles J. Arnold, of Greencastle, Ind., secretary of the Indiana Democratic Editorial association, an invitation to visit South Bend next summer. A lunch and other entertainment will be provided.

MEXICAN WAR WILL GO ON

Peace Overtures and Terms Must Come from the National Capital.

LEADERS DECLARE FOR THE STRUGGLE

Reforms and Immunity for the Rebels Must Have Guarantee.

El Paso, Tex., March 17.—The Mexican rebels will continue their war against the government of President Diaz despite assurances that Senor Limantour, minister of finance, has started plans for the termination of the revolution, the revolutionary leaders declared here today.

"There will be no pause in hostilities," said Senor Gonzales Garza, insurrecto secretary of state. "With the threat of the Mexican government hanging over us that we will be shot without a trial, our fight for liberty and for the setting up permanently of the Madero government will continue. No overture for peace will be considered official by us until it has come from Mexico City. It must come with a promise that he will retire on the ground that his election was not regular."

Notwithstanding this assertion, the report of Limantour's exertion in behalf of peace has created a profound impression in the insurgent ranks. It is known that a courier has been dispatched to the field to inform Francisco I. Madero, the revolutionary president, of the latest phase. Madero has already been made acquainted with the preliminaries.

Madero Will Run Affairs.

It is said no negotiations will be undertaken without his approval of the terms for an armistice. The terms must be such that if his plans fail the insurrectos will not have lost any strength by the effort.

Two hundred rounds of ammunition, a rifle, a horse blanket and rations consisting of fresh meat, beans, corn cakes and "cinnamon coffee" is the average equipment of the 5,000 insurrectos now in the field, according to the reports to the junta.

At night men sleep on the ground covered up in blankets. They procure the meat by killing the cattle on the ranches.

Late reports from Chihuahua City show that food conditions are becoming serious there. Only occasionally in the last few weeks has telegraphic communication been possible and the wire was used exclusively for federal official dispatches.

The citizens are not allowed to venture beyond the outposts and the tops of the houses have been provided with piles of sand bags to form breastworks in case of attack.

MADERO FAMILY ANXIOUS.

New York, March 17.—The Madero family here is watching the progress of Jose Yves Limantour toward the Mexican frontier with the greatest anxiety. When they saw dispatches today relating that the insurrectos purpose to burn the railway bridges

WILL SOON EXHAUST IRON ORE.

Expert Says at Present Rate of Consumption Supply Will Last 30 Years.

Philadelphia, March 17.—Speaking on the subject of the conservation of iron ore, Alton S. Cushman, director of the bureau of industrial research at Washington, declared at the Franklin institute that at the present rate of production the iron supply of the United States would be exhausted in thirty years.

"If the average rate of increase by decades should be continued," he said, "it would require the production in the next three decades of 6,088,000,000 tons of ore. The ore supply now available in the United States is estimated at 4,788,000,000 tons."

WANT WOMAN SWINDLER.

Des Moines, Iowa, March 17.—Gov. Carroll today issued requisition papers for the return to Des Moines of Mrs. Maud Brewer, who has been arrested at Oklahoma City. Mrs. Brewer is wanted on the charge that she swindled John Hauser out of $4,200 by pretending that she would help him find a treasure buried in his cellar.

TWO MILLIONS OF THEM BORN IN ERIN

Many of the Irish People in United States Are from Ould Sod.

THEY COME STEADILY

Washington, March 17.—Two million, in round numbers, is the approximate Irish born population at present living in the United States. While these are not the official figures of the thirteenth census, it is a close estimate based upon the 1900 census and the immigration and emigration of Irish-born immigrants during the ten years following. Tabulation of the figures of the 1910 census had not progressed far enough to permit the director of the census to give today the number of Irish in the country and it may be three months before the statistics are ready.

There were exactly 1,169,449 Irish-born in the United States in 1900. They were located in every state of the union. New York had the most, there being 425,553 in the Empire state; Massachusetts came second with 249,916; Pennsylvania third, with 205,905; Illinois fourth, with 114,565, and New Jersey fifth, with 91,844.

Immigration from Ireland for the past ten years has been uniformly steady, averaging about 37,000 yearly. From June 30, 1899, to January of this year, 427,741 Irish immigrants entered the United States. During that time there were many non-immigrant Irish both entering and leaving the United States.

The population of Ireland estimated for 1909 was 4,347,158. A census of Ireland will be taken April 1 of this year. On that date in 1901 the total population was 4,458,775, of whom 2,200,040 were males and 2,258,735 were females. Ireland's population has steadily decreased for the last sixty years. In 1861 it was 5,798,967, a decrease of 11.8 per cent from that of 1851; in 1891 it was 4,704,750, decrease of 9.1 from 1851 and the decrease from 1891 to 1901 was 5.26.

A meeting will be held tonight of Knights and Ladies of Security, No. 1427, in hall over Star theater.

ONE WITNESS TO BE FOUND

Arthur Burdick Could Not Be Located by Telephone Today.

MAY KNOW ABOUT THE SHAW WATCH

Thompson Still in Jail on Larceny Charge and No New Clue.

When Arthur Burdick is located and his testimony taken the police and other officers investigating the Shaw murder will have about cleaned up the watch proposition and will have to take another tack if they expect to prove that Joseph Thompson had any connection with it.

Burdick had all of the opportunity on earth to observe whether Thompson had a watch before the first of January or not. He roomed with him and he ought to know something about the matter.

The Sentinel made an effort today to get hold of Burdick by telephone, but he was not at his home and was not expected to return until 7 o'clock this evening. He had gone to the country and had not told just where he could be found.

Fight in the Flats.

Although every effort is being made by the police to find somebody who knows something about a fight in the "redlight" district on the night of January 1 and frequenters of Lee Ivins' cigar store have sought to tell the police the name of the man who told that a man was being murdered in one of the establishments, none has been able to recall the name.

Deputy Sheriff Walter Immel dug up another piece of information along this line during the day and started out to make an investigation. He was told that a young fellow who was out that night went home and said to his mother and aunt:

"Ain't it getting to be awful in Fort Wayne? There was a man murdered on the flats tonight."

He was asked how he knew about it and if he had been down there and he passed the subject up without telling anything more. He had not been located up to late this afternoon.

Officers Looked at Thompson.

Joseph Thompson was held last night in the women's cell at police headquarters and the officers who did not know him were asked to look him over and see whether or not they could place him and connect him in any way with Harold I. Shaw. None could give any information and this morning he was removed to the county jail, where he was held on the affidavit charging him with stealing a bell.

This bell fell to the ground about three years ago when a Huntertown church burned and Mains and Thompson took it and hitched a horse to it and it was dragged to Garrett and offered to a junk dealer. The loss was discovered and a telephone message beat the men to the junk dealer. He weighed it and found it worth $52. He gave the pair $2 and told them to call next morning. Thompson sent Mains to get the money and avoided arrest. From early yesterday morning to late in the afternoon he was under fire, but nothing of any value was obtained from him. He will be kept in jail during the investigation.

Will Work Quietly.

At a conference between the officers working on the case and Prosecutor Thomas and Harry Hilgeman, his deputy, which was held last night, it was decided to avoid publicity as much as possible in their future movements in the hope that better results can be accomplished.

All agreed, however, that in their failure to get any information from Thompson they had reached the end of their string.

LIFE SENTENCE FOR WOMAN.

Nebraska Murderess Fails to Get Off On Insanity Plea.

Hartington, Neb., March 17.—A verdict of murder in the first degree, with imprisonment for life, was returned today by the jury in the case of Mrs. Maggie Davis, accused slayer of Ira Churchill.

Mrs. Davis killed Ira Churchill while he was milking a cow on his farm home near Coleridge, Neb., Nov. 2 last. Her defense was insanity. It was alleged that Churchill had promised to marry Mrs. Davis, but on the eve of the wedding had married another woman.

Mrs. Denis E. Reed, of Auburn, is a patient at the Lutheran hospital, where she underwent an operation, this morning for the removal of gallstones.

THE WEATHER.

Washington, March 17.—Forecast for Indiana—Rain in south and rain or snow in north portion tonight or Saturday; colder Saturday. Rain in northwest portion tonight; brisk south winds, shifting to north late Saturday.

Ohio—Snow or rain tonight or Saturday, warmer in eastern portion tonight; colder Saturday; brisk south winds, shifting to northwest by Saturday morning.

Lower Michigan—Snow this afternoon and tonight; Saturday snow flurries and colder; brisk south winds, shifting to north tonight.

Illinois—Increasing cloudiness, with rain or snow in northern and rain in southern portion tonight or Saturday; colder Saturday.

TRYING TO START A GILBERT BOOM

Washington Rumor Says He Has His Eye on the Governorship.

IS DISCOUNTED HERE

Washington, March 17.—Two booms for the republican nomination for governor of Indiana are being talked of by Indianaians in Washington. Newton W. Gilbert, vice governor of the Philippines, is now en route to the United States, and it is rumored he will look over the field with a view possibly to entering the race for the gubernatorial nomination.

In this connection they are citing as corroborative evidence of Mr. Gilbert's alleged desire to occupy the gubernatorial chair in Indiana the fact that shortly before his departure from the Philippines a few weeks ago for his visit in Europe and America, the rumor was persistent in Manila that Vice Governor Gilbert did not intend to return to the orient.

The other gubernatorial boom is that of Will R. Wood, of Lafayette. Several Indianaians here have information that Mr. Wood may become a candidate. It is understood that if he does Representative Crumpacker will take an active part in his behalf and that he probably will have the solid delegation from the Tenth congressional district.

None of Governor Gilbert's friends in Fort Wayne place the slightest credence in the reports emanating from Washington that he may make the race for governor of Indiana, and more than this they declare it pretty nearly the limit of improbability. They point to Mr. Gilbert's rapid rise from his first place in the Philippines as judge of the court of first instance to the vice governorship of the archipelago, and say that in the natural order of things they expect him to eventually reach the governorship. With the future before him in the islands, they declare there is hardly the slightest possibility of him giving heed to the doubtful attractiveness of a nomination for governor upon the republican ticket in Indiana.

FRIARS TO GIVE THEATRICAL.

The Friars club is at present laying plans to give an amateur theatrical production, which will be along different lines than anything ever held in this city, and to this end a committee composed of the following has been appointed to take charge of the affair: Alfred Gesler, Ross Davis, Herbert Zermuhlen, Steven Callahan, William S. Gill, Charles Pask and Willam Moeller, chairman. Arrangements are also being made for a dance to be held immediately after the close of the Lenten season.

A COLOR SCHEME DID NOT PLEASE

Gold in Goldsberry Window Mistaken for Hated Orange.

CALLED THE POLICE

When decorations were planned for the windows in the Edgar Goldsberry company's store on Calhoun street, green and gold was proposed as the color scheme in honor of St. Patrick's day, but whoever selected the gold got it too near an orange and a police call resulted.

Whether it was a practical joker or somebody bent on mischief the company does not know, but somebody called up the proprietor by telephone and told him if he "didn't take that orange out of the window he would smash the d— thing in."

The proprietor thought when he surveyed his window that he had done the proper thing and believed that he had followed out a scheme that would express the sentiment of the day, and he does not believe general exception was taken to the decorations, but he was afraid that somebody might become unduly excited and smash the window glass.

While the thought that it was a practical joke occurred to the manager, he did not want to take any chances and he asked the police to watch his place tonight.

THE DEATHS.

LAVANWAY.

Mrs. Josephine Lavanway, widow of Luke Lavanway, a pioneer resident of Fort Wayne, died very suddenly from apoplexy Thursday afternoon at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. W. M. Shondell, 1117 Cochran street, at the age of 88 years, 8 months and 15 days.

Mrs. Lavanway had been in failing health for some time, but her condition had not been regarded as critical. The fatal attack came upon her as she was seated in a chair soon after she had finished eating her noonday meal. The deceased was born in France, coming to America at the age of 10 years, and located in Fort Wayne in the thirties. She was united in marriage in 1846 to Luke Lavanway, the ceremony having been performed in the old Cathedral by Rev. Father Benoit, the pioneer missionary. She was very widely known, especially among the older residents of the city, and was universally esteemed for her exalted Christian character and her womanly graces of mind and heart. She was a member of the Cathedral congregation. Of ten children born to Mr. and Mrs. Lavanway, seven survive. They are Mrs. W. M. Shondell and Mrs. J. H. Waterhouse, of this city; Mrs. A. W. Stace, Mrs. T. V. Hagerman, Mrs. Emma Rhodes, Mrs. William Horden and Mrs. Louis Camelat, of Chicago, and Alex Lavanway, of Rock Island, Ill. Ill.

There are a large number of grandchildren and three sisters and a brother—Mrs. John Iten, Mrs. Louise O'Connor, Mrs. Joseph Urbine, residing in West Virginia, and Glauge Bercot, of Arcola. Funeral services Monday morning at 8:30 from the residence and at 9 o'clock from the Cathedral; interment at Lindenwood.

M'BRIDE.

James McBride, for more than fifty years a resident of Allen county, died Thursday at his home in Eel River township at the age of 73 years. Death was due to pneumonia, following an illness of two weeks.

Mr. McBride was born in Ohio, September 25, 1837, and came in 1856 to Allen county, where he has since resided. During the civil war he served for four years as a soldier, returning at the close of the war to resume his vocation as a farmer. He was widely known and highly esteemed. Surviving relatives include the widow and one brother, Mitchell McBride, of Garrett.

Funeral services Sunday morning at 10 o'clock from Eel River chapel, Rev. Mr. Reichelderfer officiating; interment at the Eel River cemetery.

CARMER.

Joseph W. Cramer, jr., the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Carmer, 1203 Fourth street, died Thursday afternoon from exhaustion at the age of 22 days.

Funeral services were held privately from the residence Friday afternoon.

DOCTOR.

Frieda Doctor, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Doctor, 2433 Smith street, died at 10:45 o'clock Thursday night at the age of four days.

Funeral services were held Friday afternoon and were private.

FUNERAL NOTICES.

Trebra.—Funeral services for Robert Trebra, jr., will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence, 724 Madison street, and at 2:30 from St. Paul's Lutheran church.

Noze.—Funeral services for Mrs. Sadie Noze will be held Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from the residence, 1818 Pine street, and at 2 o'clock from St. John's Lutheran church.

HAVE KEY; WANT KEYHOLE.

Secret Service Men Working on Big Theft of Bullion.

Salt Lake, Utah, March 17.—Federal secret service men here are searching for a safety deposit box containing the plunder of the Humboldt bullion robbery a year ago. To help them they had a key forwarded from San Francisco which was surrendered to the police there by a member of the robber gang who is said to have confessed he stole it when he thought his assistants were trying to beat him out of his share. He did not know the bank or city in which the box was located. The key is being tried in various western cities.

OPENS FIRE FOR A FINAL ATTACK

Second Effort is Made to Knock Out Wartell Indictment.

TAKES A NEW TACK

In the circuit court this afternoon Judge R. K. Erwin and Judge O. N. Heaton opened fire for their final attack on the indictment returned by the last grand jury against Benjamin Warrell, charging him with perjury in the Elliott case.

The arguments were being made on motion to quash and the ground is taken that the facts upon which the charge is based are not material. Wartell is accused of having stated that Elliott bought a diamond from him on December 23 when it was actually purchased on December 7.

Both of the attorneys for Wartell had a number of authorities to present and Judge Merryman came over from Decatur to hear them. Prosecutor Thomas represented the state in the matter.

Charges Abandonment.

Jessie M. Barrey, in a divorce suit filed in the superior court today, charged that Thomas C. Barrey abandoned her on Feb. 22, 1909 and had since failed to make any provision for her support. They were married in June, 1906. Judge R. B. Dreibelbiss filed the suit.

MEXICAN WAR WILL GO ON

south of Laredo, thus cutting Limantour's route to Mexico City, they showed grave concern.

"That would be a mistake," said Gustavo Madero. "Limantour is a practical man and the country needs him. He ought not be kept out."

As showing the attitude of the Maderos toward peace negotiations, it became known today that Gustavo recently visited Wall street with an offer to sell part of the large family holdings of land but shortly before Limantour left, changed his mind and withdrew the commission. He admitted the reversal today, but had no explanation on it to offer.

LOOKS LIKE ANOTHER ALAMO.

San Diego, Calif., March 17.—Barricaded in adobe houses of the little hamlet of Tecate, nine insurrectors are being bombarded today by a force of Mexican soldiers which attacked the place at daylight. The soldiers comprise Company F, Eighth Mexican infantry, which marched from Ensenada, presumably for Tijuana, Mex. Guided by Jose Morales, who was run out of Tecate by the rebels last week, they surrounded Tecate early today and opened fire on the houses and the rebel camp. Two rebel guards fell at the first fire. The rebels under the leadership of Rodrigues attempted a stand and Rodrigues with fourteen others managed to break through the cordon. Two Mexican soldiers were killed in this sortie.

Nine insurrectos, unable to get away, barricaded themselves in the houses in Tecate and are fighting to the death with the federals. The latter number eighty men. They have lost two killed and six wounded. The rebels numbered thirty-one men when surprised. Two were killed and five wounded and fifteen escaped to the hills where a detachment of troops is pursuing them. The destruction of this band relieves Tijuana of the fear of invasion. Customs officers report the presence of a second band of insurrectos and that Rodrigues with the men who escaped from Tecate have joined the force, which is awaiting a second attack by the Mexican federal troops at San Ysidro, a small place fifteen miles east of Tijuana.

LIMANTOUR SPEEDS HOME

Little Rock, Ark., March 17.—Jose Yves Limantour, finance minister of Mexico, passed through Little Rock this morning in the private car Hidalgo, en route to Laredo. His secretary stated that the minister had not heard of the report that insurrectos probably would try to prevent his reaching the City of Mexico.

AMERICANS WELL TREATED.

Washington, March 17.—American citizens held as prisoners of war by the Mexican authorities at Casas Grandes, who have been reported in danger of execution, and Henry Whittle, who was arrested at Ciudad Porforio Diaz yesterday, are safe and assured of fair treatment, according to telegraphic advices received by the state department today from American consular officers in Mexico.

Taking cognizance of reports that the several Americans imprisoned at Casas Grandes for alleged connection with the revolution would probably be put to death, the state department instructed the American consul at Juarez to investigate the matter. Today the consul telegraphed the department that General Navarro, commander of the federal forces at Casas Grandes, has assured him that the report that the men were in danger was without foundation and the prisoners would receive every possible consideration.

TRAFFIC IS RESUMED.

Sacramento, Cal., March 17.—After suspending traffic for nearly two weeks on account of landslides in the Feather river and Niles canyon, the Western Pacific railroad yesterday succeeded in opening the line for freight service. Passenger service will be resumed next week.

ALLEGED WHITE SLAVER TAKEN

Finkelstein Said to Have Sold His Wife Into a Life of Shame.

PRISON FOR NICHOLS

Chicago, March 17.—Secret service operatives of the department of justice today arrested Jacob Finkelstein on a charge of having placed his young wife in improper places in El Paso, in Mexico and in California and of abandoning her after taking $5,000 of her earnings to purchase a saloon property. Finkelstein's family tried to fight off the operatives and the latter had to use pistols to compel them to desist.

Edward S. Nichols, convicted of having enticed a 13-year-old girl to Hammond, Ind., in violation of the Mann "white slave" law, was sentenced to ten years' imprisonment at Leavenworth by Judge Landis in the United States district court here today.

TWENTY YEARS IN PRISON.

Mrs. Melber, Child Slayer, Says She Would Rather Die.

Albany, N. Y., March 17.—A minimum sentence of twenty years at hard labor in Auburn prison and a maximum of life imprisonment was imposed late yesterday by Justice Howard on Mrs. Edith Melber, following her conviction of killing her only child by forcing acid down his throat in a desolate Albany suburb on the night of Jan. 6 last. A verdict of murder in the second degree was returned by the jury.

Mrs. Melber exhibited not the slightest sign of appreciation of her position as the verdict was rendered and the sentence pronounced. Later, when her weeping sister, Mrs. Linda Simmons, flung her arms about her the tears came and she showed deep grief.

"Why didn't they kill me?" she wailed. "I only wish they had taken my life. I'm ready to die."

As she was leaving the courtroom her eyes fell upon Howard Kirk, love for whom, according to the theory of the prosecution, instigated the woman's crime. A flash of anger lightened her usually impassive features and she cried: "I'll have you in Auburn with me before long."

LIGHTWEIGHT CHAMPIONSHIP.

Wolgast and Memsic Will Do Battle This Afternoon.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 17.—For the first time since the Jeffries-Johnson fight at Reno, a world's championship is involved when Ad Wolgast, of Cadilac, Mich., the premier lightweight pugilist, and George Memsic, of Los Angeles, enter the arena at Vernon, for a twenty round battle this afternoon. The betting odds hover around 2 to 1 in favor of Wolgast. Memsic's only apparent advantage is in weight. When the fighters had their final weighing-in, Wolgast tipped the scales at 129½, or 3½ pounds under the light weight limit, and Memsic weighed 132½, a bare half pound under the limit.

Both were reported in excellent condition.

THEY ARE TINKERING WITH PISA.

According to the findings of a royal commission appointed to investigate the present condition of the Leaning Tower of Pisa, it appears that, instead of being supported on a massive foundation, the tower rests on a ring-shaped masonry base, with an inner diameter of 24 feet 3½ inches, exactly the same as the inside diameter of the tower. The tower is about 177 feet high, and in 1829 is said to have been 14 feet 5 inches out of plumb; since that time its inclination has been increased by an additional 0.0055 foot per foot of its height. In 1834 an earthquake caused a deflection of about five inches.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

SERVICES IN CHAPEL CAR.

Rev. Gale Will Address the Public Saturday During Noon Hour.

Rev. Thomas Gale will conduct services tomorrow noon from 12 to 1 o'clock in the Chapel car instead of at the R. R. Y. M. C. A. rooms as heretofore during the week. The car stands on the Wabash tracks between Clinton and Calhoun streets. The meeting will be open to the general public.

SEVERELY BURNED.

Mrs. A. M. Tower Victim of Explosion Accident.

Mrs. A. M. Tower, of [illegible] sister street, sustained painful injuries when the fumes from the gasoline [illegible] in boiling clothes exploded and enveloped her in flames. Her face and hands were blistered and a portion of her hair burned, but fortunately the eyes escaped serious injury. The explosion was heard by the neighbors and considerable excitement prevailed for a moment in the neighborhood.

WHAT RUSSIA CALLS IT.

St. Petersburg, March 17.—Large bodies of Russian troops enroute for China are concentrated at Sharken, about sixty miles west of Kulja. An official communication announcing the movement of the troops euphemistically describes it as a "test of mobilization."

LEFT TO STARVE AND DID.

Seattle, Wash., March 17.—Marooned and left to perish of starvation, six Japanese plume gatherers have been found on Saipan island in the Carolines. They were left by the schooner Torra on Saipan. In October last the six —, whose food had given out and who were ill with beri beri, signalled to [illegible] to be taken off, but the schooner left them behind and returned to Hapan. On February 8 the vessel again visited Saipan island and found six corpses.

LONDON BANKER A SUICIDE.

London, March 17.—A sensation has been caused in financial circles by the suicide of R. F. Carnegie, manager of the Lombard street branch of Parr's bank, ltd., whose body was discovered in his room at home today. The affairs of the institution are said to be in perfect order.

the truths which he taught. The conversion of the people of Ireland stands out as one of the most wonderful facts in history.

Present Opportunities.

"We in this day would do well to remember not only to believe in Christ but to suffer for him. We are living in the 20th century and have all the opportunities and advantages, and have every opportunity to develop. We are exempted from the torture of past ages but that does not exempt us from suffering. There is danger in the prosperity of this age as of being too easy in the exercise of the Catholic faith. There are many influences at work which bring ruin to the Catholic faith, which must be realized and combated. Indifference to the form of worship is one of them, as some think that as long as they are worshiping the Almighty Father in secret and believing in Him, it is sufficient and not necessary to go to church, and in this lies a danger, for it is given that we should deny ourselves and undergo suffering in worshiping Jesus Christ. There are about ninety million people in the United States and of this number there are about fifteen million Catholics, and it is they who should take up the work of spreading the teachings of the church."

Father Quinlan at Cathedral

At the Cathedral the pastor, Rev. Father John R. Quinlan, celebrated high mass at 9 o'clock and also delivered a sermon appropriate to the St. Patrick's day occasion. Another large audience assembled there.

A number of Irish residents of Fort Wayne wore with especial pride a sprig of Shamrock grown on Irish soil and sent them by friends in the Emerald Isle. Among these was John Pauley, clerk at the Anthony hotel, whose decoration came from the hills of Tipperary. It arrived in the city yesterday. For thirty years friends in Ireland have not failed to remember Mr. Pauley at the annual recurrence of St. Patrick's day.

Another Fort Wayne man to whom the day has especial significance is ex-Sheriff Albert E. Melching, for while he cannot lay claim to Irish ancestery, St. Patrick's day is the anniversary of Mr. Melching's birth, and he never fails to give the holiday due recognition.

Anniversary of Storm.

Reflecting this morning Mr. Melching recalled that forty-three years ago today Fort Wayne was visited by a terrific cyclone in which much damage was wrought by the high winds. Many buildings in the down-town district were unroofed, among them being the Taylor warehouse, the Reed drug store, Nill's shoe shop and the Wabash railroad shops.

On another St. Patrick's day, in 1893, Fort Wayne was submerged beneath a heavy snow storm that blockaded street cars for several hours.

BURNED IN THE THAMES.

Steamer North Point Destroyed Just After Leaving Port.

London, March 17.—The Furness line freight steamer North Point, which sailed today for Philadelphia, was destroyed by fire in the Thames two hours after she left her wharf. The crew of forty were taken off in safety after the vessel had been beached. She carried no passengers. The steamer was off Purflet, about 15 miles from London, when the fire broke out in the general cargo which included a quantity of creosote.

The flames spread rapidly and enveloped the craft, the heat being so intense that the plates were rendered red hot to the wwater's edge.

There was barely time in which to run the vessel ashore and permit the sailors to escape.

NEW SOCIETY GROWS RAPIDLY

Former Residents of Old Hummling in Benefit Organization.

ITS PLAN IS MUTUAL

Former residents of Hummling, Germany, who recently organized a mutual benefit society in Fort Wayne which is known as the Kreis-Hummling Benevolent society, find the organization growing rapidly in membership and are preparing to incorporate under the state laws. Descendants of these Hummling folk, as well as those with whom they have intermarried, are also admitted to the organization.

The officers are: President, Theodore Klep; vice president, Henry Johnson; secretary, Luke Otten; treasurer, Peter Lauer. Originally starting as a purely social organization, the mutual benefit plan has been adopted, modeled somewhat after the system of the Bruederliche Unterstuetzungsverein, and payments are made to beneficiaries at the death of any member. There are at present about fifty members, and the next meeting will be held Monday evening in the hall above 412 East Washington street.

COMPANY 3 TO HOLD REUNION.

Veterans Marched to War Fifty Years Ago—Will Observe Day.

A special committee from Company 3 of the Ninth Indiana infantry has made arrangements for a grand reunion of the old company next month at the home of John Koons at Ossian. April 18 will be the day set aside for the reunion as that is the day the company started for the front, fifty years ago.

April 18, 1861, Company 3 of the Ninth Indiana infantry marched from the old Hedekin house south to the railroad station where they boarded a train, being the first company called from this section of the state for active service in the war.

While the original number of the company has been greatly lessened by the death of many of the veterans, those surviving have organized, and as president of their association have elected Samuel S. Kelker and Charles Fairfield as secretary. The completed program for the reunion will be ready for announcement within a short time.

AN ERRONEOUS IMPRESSION.

It appears that a number of people have understood that it was Dr. E. F. Sites who recently retired from the practice of dentistry, whereas it was his brother, Dr. H. C. Sites. Dr. E. F. Sites is still practicing at 412 West Wayne street.

Clara Morris, the actress, is working night and day dictating her memoirs to her husband from a bed in her Yonkers home, in which she has lain since her breakdown of a year ago. She is almost blind, but takes keen delight in a phonograph and is kept posted on current events by her husband. Her husband is keeping up a diary in which she noted something every day in her life since girlhood.

CITY BREVITIES.

Dr. W. F. Carver, of Albion, was in the city today.

A. E. Yergens has left for Hot Springs and the west on a trip for his health.

Victor O Ridley, a student at the Indiana Dental college, Indianapolis, arrived home today to spend the week end.

The Benevolent Order of Buffalos will give a pedro party and dance at their hall, 112 West Wayne street, Friday evening, March 24.

Ben Woodworth, the well known Fort Wayne druggist, who was taken seriously ill Tuesday night and removed to Hope hospital, where he underwent an operation for ruptured ulcer of the stomach, was reported to be slightly better today, though his condition still remains critical.

Dr. Elliott, a prominent general medicine practitioner, of Chicago, will be in the city on professional business Sunday, and while here he will probably be called in to see Dr. George Studer, who is seriously ill at the Lutheran hospital. It is also rumored that a prominent kidney specialist from Toledo will also be called in, but this is not verified.

Our store never does all the trade, but sometimes we think we ought to sell every housekeeping outfit purchased in Fort Wayne. Why? Because naturally every customer desires in purchasing a large bill of goods to buy it where he or she may get the best goods for the least money, and have the largest assortment from which to choose. Cash customers are given a special inducement by being allowed a special discount of 5 per cent, while customers who desire credit have it willingly extended to them, and they are thus enabled to buy the best made goods at the lowest cash prices. No person in Fort Wayne, with a reputation for paying their honest debts, need ever have to buy of installment houses.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

ACCUSE SALOON MEN OF FRAUD

Kokomo Liquor Men Charged With Fraudulent Voting and Bribery —Case Starts.

Kokomo, Ind., March 17.—The big legal battle between the "dry" and "wet" forces of Kokomo is now well under way. The first meeting was called yesterday morning in the council chamber of the city building. The outcome of the election on the face of the returns, it will be remembered, was a victory for the "wets" by 44 votes. The "drys," believing that fraud was used, laid a complaint before the county commissioners last week, the paper being signed by Gilbert D. Jay, general chairman of the "dry" forces. It charged that fraudulent votes were cast and that electors were bribed but no specific ward or precinct was named.

Attorneys for the "drys" are Harness, Moon & Voorhis and Bell & Kirkpatrick. For the "wets" Herron & Byers, of this city, have been retained and Rabb & Mahoney, of Logansport, will assist.

The "dry" forces have been quietly at work for the past week and declare they have enough evidence of fraud to change the result of the election. They say they will show that money was freely used by the "wets" in buying votes and that fraud was practiced in allowing men who are not residents of the precinct in which they voted to cast ballots. It is further said that floaters from other cities were brought to Kokomo on election day and fraudulently voted by the "wets." One attorney was at Logansport the fore part of the week making an investigation there, it being said that several former Kokomo residents who are now employed at Logansport and whose legal voting place is really there came to Kokomo February 28 and voted.

The "drys" have specified no certain precinct in which the alleged fraud was practiced but it is supposed they will assail the third precinct of the Second ward, where a greatly increased vote over two years ago was shown. The "drys" polled the precinct after the election, but with what result is not known. It is understood there will also be an attack on one precinct in the Third ward and in the Fourth ward, where the "drys" believe fraud was practiced.

Neither the "wets" or the "drys" are doing much talking. About all the information obtainable Wednesday was the fact that Sheriff Dan Brown had been given about forty subpoenas to serve on witnesses for the "dry" side. It is known that no witnesses in this list are outside of Kokomo, although it is freely predicted that before the case is finished there will be produced persons from outside the city by whom an attempt will be made by the "drys" to show that illegal votes were cast. The "drys" hope to prove by these that they were paid to vote.

Dr. George Studer, who is seriously ill at the Lutheran hospital, is reported to be slightly improved.

LIMITED TROLLEY OVER-TURNS AUTO

Wife Was Riding in Car That Struck Husband's Auto—Smash-up Ruins Touring Car.

Roann, Ind., March 17.—Thrown from his touring car into the street when a limited car hit the machine at the street crossing in Jonesboro Wednesday evening, Dr. John Whitson, of this place, had a narrow escape from death. The rear of the car was splintered into small pieces, but Mr. Whitson escaped with a few slight cuts and bruises. A peculiar incident of the accident was the fact that Mrs. Whitson was a passenger on board the car that almost killed her husband, and alighted at the spot to find him lying at the side of the street, seemingly dead. It was at first thought that he was seriously injured, but investigation showed that beyond a few body bruises he was uninjured.

Dr. Whitson went to Marion to close a deal by which he disposed of his farm near Jonesboro. He had been out to the farm and was returning to town to meet Mrs. Whitson when the accident occurred.

It is thought that Dr. Whitson saw the car slowing down at the Eighth street crossing and attempted to cross in front of it. The rear end of the machine was on the track when the car hit it, and it was thrown about forty feet to one side. The impact turned the car completely over and how Dr. Whitson escaped death is unexplainable. He was taken to the home of friends in Jonesboro and will suffer practically no ill effects from the accident.

DISTRICT MEETING A SUCCESS.

400 Brave Warriors Attend the "Doins" —Forty-five Initiated.

Huntington, Ind., March 17.—With an attendance of between 400 and 450, the big district meeting of the Improved Order of Red Men was a success from every standpoint.

Over 400 were present at the meeting Wednesday evening in the Eagles' hall. Three degree teams worked and forty-five candidates met the furious onslaughts of the goat. Twelve were given the adoption degree, fifteen the warriors' degree and eighteen the chief's degree. Frank Strauss, city treasurer, was given all three degrees and stood the hard work well. Because of the inclement weather conditions the parade which was to be given down Jefferson street at 6 was postponed. A special banquet was given for the two degree teams and the remainder sought Huntington restaurants. Great Sachem O. C. Norris, of Rushville; Great Senior Sagamore George Harper, of Kendallville, and the Great Chief of Records Wolfe, of Indianapolis, were present and in the afternoon explained the unwritten laws of the order. After the degree work in the Eagles' hall, the meeting was adjourned to the Red Men's hall where a sumptuous banquet and a smoker were given. The fun lasted until into the morning hours.

"GLAD RAGS" BURN.

Fire Destroyed $400 Worth of Evening Suits.

Huntington, Ind., March 17.—Damages amounting to more than $400 resulted from the fire which broke out last evening about 7 in the dry room of the newly established cleaning and dye works on North Jefferson street. Much of the loss lies in suits destroyed that had been left there for repairs.

A number of suits had been brought in during the last few days for cleaning and pressing in preparations for various social events. Of these a large part belonged to persons who were to attend the functions tonight at the Eagles' hall given by J. F. Bippus, wife and daughter. These had been placed in the rear room wwhere the drying takes place. Just what caused the fire is not known but it is the opinion of the proprietor that the large quantity of gasoline with which some of the clothes were saturated was responsible.

STRICKEN IN BED.

North Manchester, Ind., March 17.—Levi Kohr, one of the old and prominent residents of North Manchester, was stricken with paralysis at his home in that place early Thursday mornig and there is little hope of his recovery expressed by his physician.

Mr. Kohr was just rising from his bed when the attack came, and he fell from the bed to the floor. The family hearing the noise hurried to him and placed the unconscious man back upon the bed and called a doctor. One side it is understood, is completely paralyzed and the patient is unable to articulate. Mr. Kohr is about seventy years old and is known all over Wabash county.

NEW POSTOFFICE BY XMAS.

Wabash, Ind., March 17.—J. G. Unkafer and C. T. Unkafer, of Minerva, Ohio, and members of the firm of J. G. Unkafer & Co., successful bidders for the new postoffice building in this city, arrived here yesterday morning and promised the new office to Postmaster L. A. Dawes as a Christmas present, it being their intention to have the building completed by the last of this year.

RUSSIAN WEDDING.

Hartford City, Ind., March 17.—An unusual wedding ceremony, performed in the German language and adhering strictly to the Russian marriage customs, was witnessed at the Lutheran parsonage Monday afternoon when Henry Lossman and Miss Maria Keil, both natives of Leveland, Russia, were united in holy wedlock by Rev. J. Barthelmas.

MORE MEASLES.

Decatur, Ind., March 17.—That the measles is not yet stamped out is shown by the fact of our having four new cases reported yesterday. Not content with attacking the children alone it is now being taken by the older folks.

ATTEPTED SUICIDE.

Despondent Wife Shoots Herself With Rifle—Will Recover.

Hartford City, Ind., March 17.—Mrs. Edna Spruce, 28, wife of Earl Spruce, a Millgrove glassworker, will recover from a bullet wound self-inflicted between 9 and 10 o'clock Wednesday night when the woman made an unsuccessful attempt to kill herself. Despondency over domestic troubles is said to have prompted the woman to take her life. The tragedy was enacted while the husband was absent at the Millgrove glass factory, where he is employed as a bottle blower.

Mrs. Spruce used a 32-caliber rifle. How she manipulated the weapon is not known. The fact that she would not be able to place the muzzle of the gun against her breast and pull the trigger with her finger makes it evident that she must have used a stick or some other means to discharge the weapon. Either Mrs. Spruce had poor knowledge of the anatomy of the human body or the muzzle of the gun slipped when she exploded it, for the bullet meant to pierce the heart, missed that organ several inches and did not even penetrate the lung. It entered the left shoulder an inch or two below the collar bone and ranging upward passed through the shoulder and came out at the back. Dr. McFarland was called to attend the would-be suicide. He found that the wound was not serious and that the victim would recover rapidly, provided blood poisoning did not develop.

CIVIL WAR VETERAN DIES.

Columbia City, Ind., March 17.—James McBride, a civil war veteran residing in Eel River township, five miles east of Churubusco, died Thursday morning at 12:30 o'clock, after being ill for two weeks with pneumonia. He was born in Ohio and was aged 73 years, 9 months and 25 days. He is survived by his aged widow and one brother, Michael McBride, of Fort Wayne. The funeral will occur Sunday at the Chapel church at 10 o'clock, Rev. Reichelderfer officiating; interment in Eel River cemetery.

INFECTION PROVES FATAL.

Warren Youth Had Arm Amputated, But Could Not Check Disease.

Warren, Ind., March 17.—Although an operation was performed a short time ago in an effort to check the ravages of a tubercular infection the condition of Harry Ulerich, of this place, rapidly became worse and finally resulted in his death at the home of his mother Wednesday night at 10:20. He had been suffering with the ailment about four months. His hand was first affected. Two months ago he was taken to a hospital in Marion where the arm was amputated. However, this proved of no avail and the disease attacked his brain, causing death.

Mr. Ulerich was twenty-one years old and had lived all of his life in Warren. He was a graduate of the Warren high school and a member of the Phi Delta Kappa fraternity at Warren. Surviving are the mother, Mrs. William Ulerich, a brther, Dora, and several sisters, among whom are Mrs. Joseph Hoover, of Majenica; Mrs. Ellen Ruble, of Warren, and Elsie Ulerich, who lives at home.

Mrs. Michael Hontheim, of 224 West Washington street, has just returned to San Francisco from Honolulu on the seamship Magnolia, and is expected to return to this city about April 1.

Thomas D. Lane, manager of the Menter Rosenbloom Store, is at South Bend on a business trip.

IRELAND'S NEW DAWN.

The Irish of Ireland and of all other lands have reason today to celebrate the anniversary of their great saint with uncommon fervor and joy. The dream of generations is about to be realized, the fruits of the long struggle are about to be gathered. Home rule for Ireland soon will have come. It is no longer a mere aspiration in the hearts of a big-souled and liberty-loving people, but a definite and formulated purpose of government, and a government, too, that is both committed to that purpose and strong enough to carry it through.

It has been a long and sometimes dreary, but never disheartening fight the Irish have waged for the right to rule their land. Sometimes it has seemed the victory was coming and then the prospect would fade with the shifting policies of government or the recreancy of politicians to their pledges; but the hope never perished in Irish bosoms, the courage never faltered in Irish hearts. The fight went on and is still on, howbeit nearly won. The steadfastness of leaders and the loyalty of the Irsih everywhere to the great struggle for the old land's right to rule herself have wrought finally a triumph of what to the world long had seemed a hopeless battle.

The victory of home rule will be almost as distinctly a triumph for the Irish of the United States as for the Irish of the mother land. The sinews of war have come in large part from America, where exiles from Erin have prospered but in their prosperity never have forgotten the old soil and the tyranny which ruled over it.

Another St. Patrick's Day will doubtless see the beginning of the reinstitution of Irish government and Irish liberties. It is a hope that must animate the liberty-loving the world around, but nowhere more than in the mother of republics, for whose establishment and later for whose preservation Irish blood was poured out on a thousand fields.

CLEAN-UP DAY.

Fort Wayne ought to have a city cleaner day as soon as spring has fully come and the weather is settled. In other cities where this has been inaugurated very signal results have been obtained. Most readers doubtless are familiar with the plan. There is nothing complex or mysterious; it involves merely a concerted movement of the citizenship of a community against dirt and filth. A day is appointed when it shall be the moral obligation of every householder to see that his premises are made clean—front yard, back yard, alley, street and all about. Cities larger than Fort Wayne have employed this method for a thorough spring cleaning and have found results so amazing and salutary that clean-up days have become an institution like the Fourth of July or Thanksgiving. It gets very tangible results and spreads over the entire community the infection not of microbes but of civic pride and aspiration to be clean and healthy. The one feature of more conspicuous beauty than the other is that it costs nothing—practically nothing. Each householder does or procures to be done his own work. That expense at most is a trifle. Let Fort Wayne put herself at it.

That the democrats will be able to "get by" President Taft with a reformed schedule or two at the extra session of congress is the expectation of Champ Clark, who will be speaker of the next house. In consideration of putting the president's Canadian tariff agreement on the books it is contemplated that the president will approve some changes in the Aldrich tariff law and the president, in view of what he desires and expects to have done for him, will not be likely to disappoint his friends of the hostile side of the chambers. Democrats and progressives are in agreement that the extra session should not pass without giving the people some relief from the heaviest of the burdens that bear upon them by reason of the Aldrich bill. It will be a start at revision downward and of a mild sort that will not disturb business with radical changes or with a long period of uncertainty.

From sheer dynamic power of talk there sooner or later will be war between the United States and Japan. With Richmond Pearson Hobson spouting his belligerency incessantly into the air and war sharps here and naval experts there and international gossipers all over finding and inventing when they cannot find pretexts for a great conflict, the two nations ought to be at it soon enough to suit anybody. Then to make the situation additionally interesting signs of a Chino-Japanese compact to crimp Russia in Manchuria are seen. With the burdens of her last great war still upon her Japan is surely having enough war cost cut out for her. There is not likely to be conflict over Manchuria, but the war talk may eventually produce something. Its psychological effect in this country sooner or later will be manifest in a spirit that may easily start trouble.

There is nothing in the Mexican situation likely to furnish serious employment for the twenty thousand United States troops now mobilized on the border. If a few hundreds of half-fed insurrectos can keep the government guessing and make affairs look so serious that peace terms are actually considered, the northern army certainly ought to have little trouble establishing things. As for that, the same was true back in the late 40's. The men from the colder climates had more iron for war and the rugged legions of Scott and Taylor tore through the Mexicans with not much respect for the dangers there are in war.

The deadlock in the New York legislature continues with no sign of a break. Overtures for compromise have come to nothing and so far as anything appears New York will go but half represented in the United tates senate when the extra session of congress convenes. Mr. Murphy is telling the people of New York what they may do if they do not care to do what he bids. Direct vote for senators will destroy the power the Murphys and the Lorimers and others of their kind have over law-making assemblies and the election of national legislators.

Five years hence Indiana will celebrate the centennial anniversary of her statehood and it is being proposed, as a good many suspected it would, that the state fair be expanded into an exposition. This is not a proposal to substitute an exposition for the proposed permanent centennial memorial building, but as supplementary to it. Of course, if it is not going to be in any sense a case of which is which. Indianapolis, please and thank you, will take 'em both.

Within the past fourteen months Chicago has had thirty-four unsolved murders, all of the victims Italians. The Camorrist of that city seems to have the original murder cult of the old world looking like the imitation.

All that Senor Diaz need do to restore peace to his realms is to get down and go out, make room for a new regime and promise not to embarrass the new deal by interfering. And that is all easy enough.

There is a deal too much war talk for the money Andrew Carnegie is spending to keep it down.

SOME "INSIDE" WAR HISTORY.

(Kansas City Star.)

The story of the Mexican war, recalled by events on the Texas frontier, is a familiar bit of history. One of its incidents, however, only recently has become known through the opening of the diary of President Polk to students. The diary shows that the ostensible grounds on which war was declared were shifted at the last minute by the president.

There had been friction between the United States and Mexico for several years. Property belonging to American citizens had been destroyed in the insurrections there and the payment of damage claims had fallen into arrears. In addition, Texas had become a fruitful source of trouble, and there was great indignation in the United States when Mexico declared that the annexation of Texas would be considered cause of war and suspended diplomatic relations.

Polk came into office at a time when each country was inflamed against the other. While the new president had been called the first "dark" horse" of American politics, he was a forceful and aggressive character, narrow but determined. He at once entered on a vigorous policy for settling the Mexican troubles. An envoy, John Sidell, was sent to Mexico to negotiate with the government, and General Taylor, with two thousand men, was ordered to the Rio Grande. This move took Taylor into territory that was claimed alike by Texas and Mexico. It was fairly certain to be regarded by Mexico as an invasion. But Polk never doubted that the territory was rightfully Texan, and he determined to take no chances.

Meanwhile, Mexican feeling was so high that the Mexican president had been obliged to refuse to receive the American envoy. When news of this reached Washington, Polk decided that it was time to act. Public irritation was extreme, the war spirit was aroused, and he felt that he would have the country with him.

On Saturday, May 9, 1846, the president called a cabinet meeting and went over with his advisers a message he intended to send to congress on the following Monday, calling for war with Mexico on the ground that it had refused to pay just cdlaims and that it had rejected the American envoy. All the members except Bancroft advised sending the message.

That night word reached the president that a Mexican force had crossed the Rio Grande and had captured a party of American dragoons. This news gave him a better basis for appealing to congress. He had determined on war, but there would be a moral edvantage in making it appear to be a defensive war, forced by Mexico. So he worked all day Sunday revising his message, and laying on Mexico the blame for the war he was bound should come.

Monday the document went to congress. It set forth the fact that Mexico had "invaded our territory and shed American blood on American soil;" and that war existed and existed "by the act of Mexico herself."

Congress and the country responded with a whoop. The opposition from strong anti-slavery men who saw in the annexation of Texas only the extension of slave territory, made slight impression on the nation. Most people believed in the manifest destiny of the United States to expand and they were exasperated with Mexico. So Polk was overwhelmingly supported and the triumphal march to the Mexican capital was soon under way.

WORK WITH SIXTY WORDS.

n Dr. Peter Roberts is the philanthropist who devotes his time to teaching foreigners how to speak English. An account of his novel methods of instructing by the use of signs appeared in the American Magazine. Since this appeared a criticism has been made regarding his statements of the number of words used by children and foreigners in the tranaction of business. Dr. Roberts replies to his critic and gives the following statistics which are the result of careful investigation:

"In preparing lessons in English for foreign speaking men I tried to estimate the number of words necessary to carry on simple conversation in the affairs of daily life. I have four children, the eldest 8 and the youngest 3. I set to work to find how many words these children use to express their wants and to carry on their play. The eldest would not use more than four hundred and fifty, while the youngest would not use one hundred and fifty. The two 5 and 6½ years, respectively, used between three and four hundred words. Upon this observation I based my statement that the average child of 6 years uses less than four hundred words in his daily conversation.

"The distinction shold be made between the words a child of 6 knows and the ones he uses. My child of 6 knows what repeat, return, perspire, promote, etc., mean, but he never uses them. I counted the words they used, and the number will not exceed four hundred.

"There are scores of men in New York city who do a flourishing business with less than sixty words. I know a Greek, whose profits average $300 a month, and the medium of commutation between him and his English-speaking patrons does not comprise three hundred words. Here, again, it is not a question of what number of words the average American retail merchant knows, but the number he uses in the transaction of his business day by day.

AT THE MAJESTIC

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" Twice Saturday.

The announcement that this famous play is to appear is always welcome by the people of any community, for the story of Uncle Tom and of Little Eva is one that has perhaps never been equalled in pathos and heart interest in the history of American literature. Since the great story that is admitted to have been one of the most potent causes of the civil war and the consequent liberation of the southern slaves was first produced as a drama, it has been seen at one time or another by practicly every American citizen, rich or poor, young or old, and yet today it is as popular, as largely patronized and as interesting as it was when it made its first appearance. A play that can be seen over and over again and each time with increasing interest, for it is a drama that has its foundation in the heart-strings of suffering humanity and appeals to the great and kindly heart of this mighty commonwealth of America.

"MADAME X."

Henry W. Savage to Present This Superb Play Next Wednesday, Matinee and Night.

In addition to being thrilling and tear compelling beyond any other play in the memory of this generation, "Madame X" is likewise regarded by the metropolitan critics as one of the most entertaining dramas of recent years. In writing this brilliant masterpiece Monsieur Alexandre Bisson, the famous Parisian dramatist, has evinced the characteristic skill of the French playrights. He has realized that it would be impossible for any audience to endure the strain upon the sympathies and emotions that this wonder-work calls for, unless there were adequate humorous relief. He also understands human nature well enough to comprehend that there is humor in even the most tragic moments of anyone's life.

Thus "Madame X" possesses a great deal of the lighter and more amusing characteristics; features that make for laughter as well as those that bring tears.

John Drew Seat Sale Saturday.

The advance sale of seats for John Drew's appearance in "Smith" opens at the box office of the Majestic theater Saturday. This new piece of Mr. Drew's has been one of the genuine successes of the present theatrical season. It began its career with a long run in London, after which Charles Frohman presented it with Mr. Drew at the New York Empire theater, to crowded audiences for three months. Since leaving the metropolis it has been acknowledged wherever presented as not only a remarkably fine play, but the very best which Mr. Drew has had for many years. It is a refreshingly unique comedy with an absorbingly interesting story told in a way to hold and sway an audience as few plays are able to do. Best of all it enables Mr. Drew to shine to excellent advantage.

A New Play, "The White Squaw."

A play that may be said to be a downright novelty, in that it is clean, wholesome, graced by romance, bubbling with laughter and rich in heart interest is "The White Squaw," to be seen here at the Majestic on Monday evening.

The play is from the pen of the talented young actor-author, Della M. Clarke.

"The White Squaw" is styled a romantic American drama. The scenes are laid in the Michigan forests some fifty miles from Detroit and the time is just about 100 years ago. The play is said to be one of the prettiest and most absorbing stories given to the stage in many years.

It Grows Hair

Here Are Facts We Want You to Prove at Our Risk

Marvelous as it may seem, Rexall "93" Hair Tonic has grown hair on heads that were once bald. Of course, in none of these cases were the hair roots dead, nor had the scalp taken on a glazed, shiny appearance.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic acts scientifically, destroying the germs which are usually responsible for baldness. It penetrates to the roots of the hair, stimulating and nourishing them. It is a most pleasant toilet necessity, is delicately perfumed and will not gum or permanently stain the hair.

We want you to get a bottle of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic and use it as directed. If it does not relieve scalp irritation, remove dandruff, prevent the hair from falling out and promote an increased growth of hair, and in every way give entire satisfaction, simply come back and tell us, and without question or formality we will hand back to you every penny you paid us for it. Two sizes, 50c and $1.00. Sold only at our stores—The Rexall Stores. Meyer Bros. Co. Four Drug Stores.

Society Meetings Held and to Be Held This Week.

The Y. W. B. C. of the First Baptist church will meet at the home of Miss Norma Ehlen, 1019 Fairfield avenue, this evening.

The regular meeting of the Trinity Parish Guild this week was largely attended. Members of the committee in charge of the event were Mesdames M. B. Flagle, Herbert Grosvenor, E. E. Hamlet and Caroline Howard. Miss Frances Haberly was chairman of the meeting.

Major Berriman, of Indianapolis, new divisional officer of the Indiana Salvation Army, is in the city, and this evening will conduct a special meeting at the local army citadel, on East Washington street.

The Young People's Alliance of the Crescent Avenue Evangelical church will hold its regular monthly business meeting and social in the church this evening at 7:30. Important business is to be discussed and a short musical program rendered. The social hour will be a St. Patrick's celebration. Light refreshments will be served and a silver offering taken.

The Young Men's Bible class of the Bethel Evangelical church enjoyed a banquet last evening at the Homestead cafe. Thirty-three were present and W. S. Schiefer presided as toastmaster. Toasts were given by F. L. Koos, H. A. Gable, O. H. Auspurger, Rev. J. J. Wise, H. O. Augspurger, Rev. C. D. Rarey, Rev. C. A. Hirschman, K. C. Baltzell and Dick Oakes.

HOW TO GAIN HEALTHY FLESH.

Meyer Bros. Co. Advise Use of Samose.

While thinness may not be a disease, yet it is in reality a condition that needs attention. Under the nourishing power of Samose healthy, natural flesh will soon be attached.

This remarkable flesh-forming food strengthens the system generally and builds up the fleshy tissues so that good, natural plumpness results.

An ounce of flesh is better than a pound of theory. Meyer Bros. Co. believes that the best possible demonstration of the flesh-forming powers of Samose is to have it tried by their customers and to induce them to use it they offer to pay for the Samose in case it does not give satisfaction. No stronger proof than this can be given of their faith in it. They have seen hundreds who were weak, thin and scrawny, become plump, robust and strong, solely through the use of Samose.

If you are thin or in poor health, take advantage of this offer. You run no risk whatever and the chances are 98 out of 100 that you will notice a gain in weight after using Samose for a week or ten days.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

WORLD MOVING TOWARD PEACE

W. Dudley Foulke Says International Court Will Come.

TALK TO MEN'S CLUB

Declaring his belief that the future will see the creation of an international court to which will be submitted for adjustment all the differences between nations, and pointing out some distinct steps already taken toward the abolition of war and the establishment of universal peace, Hon. William Dudley Foulke, of Richmond, delivered a masterly address before the Men's club at the First Presbyterian church Thursday evening. The distinguished Indianian's activity in public affairs has been so extensive and his services so distinguished that he is regarded as eminently qualified to discuss the subject chosen for his Fort Wayne address.

Mr. Foulke contended that just as it was futile to expect men to discard the practice of defending their own rights in personal encounter until there was a system of law to which they could appeal for adjustment of wrongs, so nations will decline to disarm until there is created an international tribunal which will guarantee justice to all nations. He was not prepared to say even that at this time disarmament would be desirable, and pointed out the fact that as a general proposition the possession of fighting equipment had been a guaranty of peace, citing the German empire as an example. Though the most thoroughly armed and fortified of all modern nations, Germany has been enjoying an era of peace uninterruptedly while other great powers have been embroiled in conflict of one sort or another.

Would Fortify Canal.

The speaker sustained President Taft in his contention that the Panama canal should be fortified, and declared it the duty of the United States to prepare itself by that means to guarantee to the world its proposition that the canal should be for universal use. He cited the great empire of China as a pitiful example of a power that had trusted to the world's sense of justice and failed to provide military force to enforce its rights. As a result of this peace policy, said Mr. Foulke, China had been gradually losing its territory and even some of the smaller powers had ruthlessly grabbed Chinese provinces, with the Celestial empire and its millions utterly powerless to prevent it.

Neutralization, too, is effective for peace only so long as the powers in the compact consent to have it so, and there is no assurance beyond the whim of any country which may be a party to it. Arbitration is only partially effective because as yet only a limited variety of differences have been submitted to it, and its decisions are usually diplomatic because there is no international precedent or code of law to be followed, and no power to enforce its findings save that of public opinion.

The peace conferences at The Hague, Mr. Foulke continued, had been an important step leading up to the time when not only financial claims but all possible differences between nations will be submitted for adjustment to an international tribunal, composed of representatives of the highest and best thought and the most gifted legal minds of all the nations. War has not yet ceased, said Mr. Foulke, but it is growing less frequent. The progress toward universal peace is plainly observable in the tendency of the world's activity, and the speaker expressed the belief that the future would see fully consummated this plan for adjusting the differences of the world.

President E. F. Yarnelle presided at the meeting, and the speaker was introduced by Charles R. Lane. Mr. Foulke was given close attention and as he concluded in the midst of vociferous applause half a dozen members of the club were on their feet to offer the vote of thanks to the speaker which was unanimously adopted.

SOME ASSETS OMITTED.

Brewing Concern Objects to Discharge of Elkhart Bankrupt.

The Pabst Brewing company has filed in the federal court in Fort Wayne objection to the discharge of John H. Krumpetz, of Elkhart, under the bankruptcy act. The company alleges that Krumpetz did not list all his assets when he appealed to the court for relief from his indebtedness, and asks to have the proceedings set aside.

FRANK O'BRIEN'S PILL A PUZZLER

Entered Indignant Denial to the Charge of Drunkenness.

SMELLED OF BOOZE

When Frank O'Brien was arraigned in the city court today on the charge of public intoxication he entered an indignant denial and said his trouble was all caused by a pill. Two patrolmen said it was just plain drunk but the prisoner insisted that when he fell on the sidewalk in the midst of a crowd that was waiting to see another drunk loaded into the patrol wagon it was the result of medicine.

He is an advertising solicitor and said he had not aken a drink for several hours before his arrest but two patrolmen with keen scents assured the court that he smelled of booze and Wilbur Carpenter, who presided while Judge Mungovan was celebrating the day, was inclined to the belief that the officers were right in their diagnosis but let O'Brien go with an injunction to cut the pill habit.

Three Boys Are Held.

Three young fellows who gave assumed names and said they were on their way from New York to Winona in search of a summer job, were held on a charge of vagrancy until Tuesday. Patrolman Spillner found them trying to dispose of some rings in Ben Wartell's establishment and sent them in. One of the number said the rings belonged to girls in his home town of Gloversville, where he is known as a regular cut up among the impressionable young women.

The Other Cases.

Frank Malloy was fined $1 for drunkenness, Walter Kelsey drew $5 and John Jones, Samuel B. Johnson and Walter Scott were let go.

A CULLUD MAN'S HOME.

WIF all de fine mansions wherever you roam
Dey's nuffin' so fine as a cullud man's home—
De bright open fi' fo' to flicker en ro';
En de cullud man's coon dog asleep on de flo',
Asleep on de flo',
Asleep on de flo',
En de cullud man's coon dog asleep on de flo'.

A charm from de skies seems to hallow it there,
En de day slips away wif its burden of care.
De li'l' pickaninnies is play on de flo',
En dey's nobody kickin' because he is po',
Because he is po',
Because he is po',
En dey's nobody kickin' because he is po'.

Ol' Trouble comes snoopin' aroun' at de cracks,
But he couldn't bust into dis place wif an ax.
It ain't very big, en it ain't very gran',
But de Lawd hol's it fas' in his merciful han',
His merciful han',
His merciful han',
But de Lawd hol's it fas' in his merciful han'.

Dey's many a rich man would lak to be po'
En sit in dis chair, wif his dog on de flo'.
Wif all de fine mansions wherever you roam
Dey ain't nuffin' else lak a cullud man's home,
A cullud man's home,
A cullud man's home,
Dey's nuffin' so fine as a cullud man's home.

An Obedient Driver.

"Drive like the deuce!" shouted Smith, springing into the taxi.

With a lurch the car darted forward, and away they went like lightning through the fog. Crash! They took off the wheel of a passing wagon. Hi, hi! They missed flattening out a small child by two-ninths of a hair. Clang! They upset a milk cart. People shouted, constables impotently held up their hands as the taxi dashed up one street and down another, taking corners on two wheels and threatening every lamppost with destruction.

At last, after half an hour's furious racing, they slowed up in a narrow thoroughfare, and Smith poked his head out of the window.

"Are we nearly there?" he asked breathlessly.

The chauffeur turned in his seat and shouted:

"Where did you want to go, sir?"—Answers.

Two Kinds.

"He's just given a big check for an old master."

"Wasn't his wife enough?"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Too Grasping.

"The late Eli Perkins," said a magazine editor, "had an apt way of driving home his points with little stories.

"Perkins once offered me a sketch at a bargain price. I accepted the sketch eagerly, and I asked for more at the same figure.

"But Perkins, laughing sourly, shook his head.

"He said I reminded him of a tramp to whom a genial old lady gave a nickel, saying:

"'Here, my good man, take this nickel and drink my health in a glass of beer.'

"'Thank you, ma'am,' said the tramp. 'But you look so infirm, hadn't I better drink two beers?'"—New York Tribune.

FIRE COSTS US MUCH.

Every American is Taxed $3 a Year for Conflagration.

(Baltimore Sun.)

"Every man, woman and child in America is taxed $3 annually to pay for the country's fires."

This statement was made by Mr. Franklin H. Wentworth, of Boston, in an address before the Credit Men's association of Baltimore. Mr. Wentworth is secretary of the National Fire Protective association, the only organization of its kind in the United States, and his address consisted of an elaborate consideration of "The Significance of the Fire Waste."

The average per capita loss in Europe, based upon statistics gathered in six countries, he said, was thirty-three cents. This vast difference between this and any other nation as regards the prevalence of fire he blamed solely upon the carelessness of the American people and the fact that they assume no personal responsibility for the loss occasioned by conflagrations.

"If we Americans wake up in the middle of the night and can't find a match," he exclaimed, "we feel personally abused. In Europe, if one wants a match he must go to the places where matches are kept."

To this fact he traced much of the loss of life and property by means of fire to which this nation is perennially subjected. But the chief cause of the alarming fire tax in America, he said, which averages ¼ million dollars a year, was on account of the many wooden buildings which are found in towns and cities and which constitute virtual invitations for the spread of conflagrations.

"PRINCE JOHN" VAN BUREN.

John Van Buren, son of Martin Van Buren, at one time generally known as "Prince John," having undertaken the representation, as a lawyer, of a certain cause before the courts, very much to the disgust of one of his friends, the latter expostulated with him in vain, and losing his temper, exclaimed:

"Van Buren, is there a case so low, so vile, so filthy, that you would decline to represent it?"

"I do not know," Van Buren replied, hesitatingly, and quickly approaching his ear close to the lips of the inquirer he whispered: "What have you been doing?"—Hilton: "Funny Side of Politics."

'TIS A GREAT SCHEME.

(New York Morning Telegraph.)

Harry Yost has a scheme. It is a fact that members of burlesque companies sometimes have difficulty in finding suitable accommodations in towns they play. They can always get located if they take the time to look for places, but frequently they are so hurried that they must put up almost any old where.

Yost is planning to organize what he calls a wheel of burlesque boarding houses. He will arrange with some hotel man or boarding house keeper in cities all over the territory east of Kansas City and Omaha to give burlesque people good accommodations at fair rates. The members of the companies playing both the eastern and western wheels will be given a list of these hotels and boarding houses, with explicit directions as to how to reach them. Then when they arrive at the next stop no time will be lost in securing good rooms and board. The man who owns the hotel or boarding house in that particular city will be looking for them and everything will move along smoothly.

Pretty fine, eh?

Yes, if so.

TRUE SPORTS IN FINAL CONTESTS

Bowser Bowlers Hook Up Leaders in Manufacturers' League.

Bass	13	50	.205

Closing games, or rather what were scheduled to be the finals, in the Manufacturers' Bowling league demonstrated that the organization is made up of true sports and as a result the Electro-Technics and the Wayne Knits will have to bowl a series to see which is the best club in the organization.

The advantage of independent bowling where sport is the first consideration was illustrated, as the men perfected their own organization, controlled their own affairs and pulled through with every club playing and playing hard. If money had been the only object the Bowser team could have thrown the lead either way, but the men bowled their best and by bunching wins in the second game they took it and sent the leaders to a tie for the honors. Gus Coburn was the star roller of the contest. He landed for 210 in his closing effort and got the high average.

Cragg plunked the maples in the last game for 222, but his pards did not show the form they displayed in the second game and the closing sketch was copped by the Knitters. The scores follow:

PARKER TAKES A NEW PARTNER IN

Wise Move on Part of the Owner of the Grand Rapids Club.

LAWYER IN THE FIRM

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 17.—In taking into partnership in the Grand Rapids baseball club H. Monroe Dunham, Dr. Harley Parker has, in all probability, made a wise move as this city has suffered from foreign ownership to such an extent that the national game held few attractions for home people and it became a difficult job last season to muster a corporals guard at any of the games.

Mr. Dunham is an attorney who has always been interested in baseball and there is every reason to believe that by taking into the organization a man who is located in Grand Rapids and who has all of his interests here that the team's prestige will be so very materially increased that it will be reflected in the gates receipts at Ramona park next summer.

Although Dr. Parker has apparently been candid with the Grand Rapids baseball public, there has lurked in the minds of many of the faithful a suspicion that Bert Annis was really the power behind the game here and that the new manager had been sent here simply to run the club in the interests of the South Bend man.

The fact remains, however, that Dr. Parker hunted Annis up at the meeting last fall in the course of which the deal was started that culminated in the sale and the former owner is insistent in his statement that he did not know the present magnate as much as contemplated buying a ball team until the matter was put up to him at the Congress hotel.

A bill of sale from Annis to Parker was duly recorded and another covering a half interest transferred to the lawyer-magnate was also put on the records and every transaction in connection with the matter stamps it as a bona fide sale.

An organization was perfected as soon as the sale was completed under which the club passed into the hands of the Grand Rapids Baseball association, of which Dr. Harley Parker is president, his new partner treasurer and Robert C. Enos, secretary. The latter has no interest in the club.

Mr. Dunham is a schoolmate of Parker's. The two were at the Northwestern university together where the doctor took his M. D. degree while his mate was getting an LL. D., and they have been intimately associated with each other since the doctor took up his abode here.

James McDonough has written to the owner that he is in the pink and can hardly wait for reporting time. This fellow is a young catcher from Chicago who is one of the backstopping hopes of the club. He gained his baseball knowledge and experience from the Chicago City league and was signed because it is believed he will develop into a good backstop.

New uniforms for the club have been ordered. Those to be worn at home will be white with black trimmings, while the road togs are of Princeton grey. Reporting time has been fixed for April 3, and all the players have been ordered to be on hand at that time.

NOLLY GOES TO FORT WORTH.

Spitballer Will Pitch in the Texas League Next Summer.

Montgomery, Ala., March 17.—Rufus Nolly, the Montgomery boy that made such a record with Savannah last year—winning nineteen and losing three of the twenty-two games that he pitched in the South Atlantic, left yesterday morning for Fort Worth, Texas. He was sold last season by Montgomery to Savannah and this season has signed up with Fort Worth in the Texas league.

Champ Osteen, who wanted his release so he could manage and play with the Goldsboro team, his signed his contract and is working out with the other players.

If you have trouble in getting rid of your cold you may know that you are not treating it properly. There is no reason why a cold should hang on for weeks and it will not if you take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For sale by all dealers.

CATCHER'S HANDS IN GOOD SHAPE

Charley Street

WASHINGTON'S GOOD CATCHER

Charley Street since joining the Nationals in 1908 has caught over 400 games of ball, and yet Street's hands are almost entirely free from blemishes with which all catchers suffer as the result of having been hit with foul tips. No other catcher has worked harder than Street, and in one respect at least he holds a record—that of catching sixteen consecutive games in nine days. That was the first year he was with the club, and the feat was accomplished in Cleveland, Chicago and St. Louis, where on the last trip the Nationals were compelled to play a lot of double-headers. Street contends that he is seldom hit on the fingers, for the reason that he holds them together when catching a ball, only exposing the side of his hand for foul tips to tickle. No one is more pleased than Street with the fact that Ainsmith is a capable catcher, for he figures that if he can alternate with the youngster he will be able to do better work, but Street dreads idleness. He does not want to be off more than two days at the outside, because he says he cannot do his best work unless he is worked regularly. Last spring McAleer cautioned him about training too hard, and Street took it easy. He thinks that this fact interfered with him early in the season, and he is now working harder than any of the players, except Cunningham.

BENDERS ARE IN SHAPE FOR BELL

Five Men Out of the Fold and All Will Be in for Start.

MEYERS COMING BACK

South Bend, Ind., March 17.—Just as soon as John Henry Meyers, Patrick Lindsay, Dave Martin, "Doc" Schmick and Pat Millerick sign and send in their contracts every man on the list of the South Bend team will be ready for the bell tap, and Manager Ed Smith's mind will be at rest about his team for the coming year.

None of the men is holding out. Lindsay and Martin are both employed in South Bend and they have not gotten around to affixing their signatures, but they have made no objections to the terms offered and will come in some time when they have a spare minute of two and finish up the preliminaries.

Lindsay was a bit disappointed that he did not advance at the close of last season and his friends were surprised when the drafting season went by and left him in the Bender camp. He was one of the winning pitchers of the league and left-handers are so scarce that it was generally conceded somebody would grab him off.

John Henry Meyers is at Mason City, W. Va., and writes that he is in fine fettle for the year. Take it from John H. he is always in the pink. He took a little whirl in politics and ran against his father for the office of town constable or something like that, and would have been elected but for the fact that about eight-tenths of the adult males in the town thought the old man the best for the office and so signified at the polls.

Schmick had the misfortune of losing his wife whose death occurred a short time ago in North Carolina, and he has not returned to South Bend. No trouble is anticipated with him and he will be on first base when the practice season opens up.

Millerick has offered no objection to his salary and will come through, it is believed. With Holmes and Shea in the backstopping department it does not make a great deal of difference what Patrick does. If Shea shows class enough to get the understudy job Millerick will likely be traded or sold before the season opens up.

JOE RAIDY ON THE JOB.

Has Some Good Players in Line and Will Get More of 'Em.

Zanesville, O., March 17.—Joe Raidy has a line on a number of good players and on his arrival here brought the cheering news that he has some promising material for the weak spots in the Zanesville line-up. He has been offered Callahan, an outfielder who signed for a try-out with the Indianapolis team. Pitcher Gilen has been secured from Toledo, and two catchers in George Doran and Welsh have been signed.

The street railway company is arranging to put in some new switches in order to give better service to and from the park and the spirit of boost is being kept alive in the city.

BOOSTERS WILL ORGANIZE.

Wheeling, W. Va., March 17.—The Wheeling Boosters' club will hold its initial meeting of the season at baseball headquarters, room 707, Schmulbach building, Sunday afternoon, at which plans will be discussed for the boosting of the baseball sport in Wheeling this season.

President Stumpy Somerfield will preside at the meeting and new officers will be elected. Fandom is invited to turn out in full for the meeting. The opening day game, April 26, will be one of the main features to be taken up, and arrangements will be made to dispose of the 2,500 tickets at $1.00 each, the extra money to be used in the purchase of a catcher or pitcher and present him to the local club with the compliments of the Boosters.

SPARKS FROM THE SPORT WORLD

If Del Howard, of the Louisville team, secures Beaumont from the Cubs he plans to play Ginger in left field.

Larry Lajoie is not afraid Joe Jackson, the young slugger of the Naps, is going to beat him out of the honors on the team. The veteran is not of a jealous disposition anyway.

Heinie Berger, former Nap pitcher, says the spitball has lost its effectiveness, and predicts that in two years there will not be a single pitcher in the majors who will depend on the spitball to win his games.

One citizen of Cincinnati has agreed to eat one-half pound of sausage each day for 30 days in succession if the Reds win the National league pennant this year.

Pitcher Sallee, of the Cardinals, is doing some grand work during the training season. He will be of great help to Bresnahan during the coming season if he keeps his seat through the summer.

One Terre Haute paper calls the ball team the Miners and another says it is the Sycamores. Both will probably have another name by the middle of the season. If they don't they will have broken a record.

George Mullin will pitch the opening game for the Detroit Tigers. Mullin has been on the job for the past five years any every time seems to have justified the choice of Manager Hughie Jennings. Mullin used to look good at South Bend.

"Pop" Anson and Evangelist Billy Sunday are booked to appear in Toledo the same week in the near future. "Pop" will deliver his monologue. "Forty years in base-ball." Wonder if they will go and see each other's "acts?"

Joe Cantillon and his Millers are training in the Night Riders' country. Joe wants to teach his men how to get away with the American association pennant again, even if they have to do it like the Night Riders used to do business.

Stuffy McInnes, the utility infielder of the world's champions, is showing more pepper during the spring practice than any of the regular men on the team. He has been making more hits than Collins and Murphy put together.

Dixie Walker, the Washington pitcher, brought his big brother Earnest with him this spring when he reported at the training camp to Jimmy McAleer. The youngster wants to play first base and has been practicing with the Senators ever since.

Charley Swain, the giant outfielder of the Washington team, who comes from the Pacific Coast league, already has trained off a lot of the 202 pounds, but Trainer Quirk says he will have to take off twelve pounds more before he is right.

Pitcher Hinricks, the big Senator who was stricken with infantile paralysis last summer and was sent to his home in Los Angeles last fall, has recovered so that he can walk about some. He expects to be able to play ball in a few months if he keeps on improving as he has been.

BALL PLAYER MERELY ELOPES.

Pennant Winner in Central League Marries Manager's Sister-in-Law.

South Bend, Ind., March 17.—The second romance in connection with the winning of the Central league pennant in 1910 has culminated in the marriage of Catcher Bob Wells and Miss Esther Whiteman, daughter of George Whiteman, a wholesale grocer of this city. The marriage took place at St. Joseph, Mich. No reason is known for the elopement, as there was no parental objections. The first romance, which resulted in a marriage last fall, had as its principals Miss Edith Whiteman, sister of Mrs. Wells and Edward J. Wheeler, manager of the pennant winners. They also were married at St. Joseph.

MIDGE CRAVEN AT GRAND RAPIDS.

Peppery Ex-Manager of Stags Will Have Throat Operation.

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 17.—Garnett (Midge) Craven, the aggressive young fielder who managed the Grand Rapids club the latter part of last season, is in the city for the purpose of submitting to an operation on his throat for swollen tonsils, which have bothered him for several years. He will be confined for a week or ten days in Butterworth hospital following the operation.

TWISTED HIS NECK.

Sampson Forced to Quit After a Short Bout With Champ.

Chicago, Ill., March 17.—Henry Bahn, known in the wrestling world as Sampson, was thrown in his match here last night with Champion Frank Gotch and sustained a badly wrecked neck and slight concussion of the brain. He was unable to continue the match and it went to Gotch after a little over seven minutes of work. Charlie Cutler defeated Lemm and Mahmout had an easy time with Marion Plestina in the preliminaries.

HOME TALENT COMEDY.

Warsaw, Ind., March 17.—A home talent play, "Down on the Farm," a four act comedy, will be given at the Warsaw opera house March 28, under the auspices of the Pocahontas lodge of this city. The company will consist of seventy-five people. The play will be given under the direction of Harry Bweton.

Frank Mueller, former manager of the Wayne club, has accepted a position as manager of the Alt-Heidelberg restaurant.

A Wonderful House Cleaner For 25 Cents

Is the latest invention of Dr. Young, the sanitary expert. Housewives are just going wild over it. The first day this little article was offered for sale in this city, women who saw it demonstrated were so eager to get one, that the clerks could not wait on them fast enough.

Young's Dust Absorbent Cloth, which is chemically treated, is a wonderful success, because it positively picks up and holds every speck of dust and dirt it comes in contact with. By using this article once a week, your house will be much cleaner than if you used the ordinary duster or rag every day; and not only that, but you actually get rid of the dust and dirt instead of scattering it without even soiling your hands.

Young's Dust Absorbent Cloth will dust anything, and gives a high polish to furniture and pianos without leaving one scratch. It will also clean silk, velvet, derby hats, windows and glassware without leaving any lint. It will last three or four months and only costs 25c. Broom Cover for cleaning floors, walls and ceilings, made of the same material as the duster, with a 4-ply base, 35c. Imitations are inferior and will not give satisfaction, but the original will, and is known by our star name and guarantee. A. M. YOUNG & CO., 27 Illinois St., Chicago.

FIRST REAL TRY FOR BROKEN ARM

Wolgast Will Know if His Injury Has Slowed Him Up.

ODDS FAVOR CHAMP

Los Angeles, Cal., March 17.—In the scheduled twenty-round bout with George Memsic here tonight Champion Ad Wolgast will have an opportunity to show whether or not his arm was to blame in the short bouts with Valentine Brown in which eastern critics said that the new aspirant for the lightweight title had all the best of his opponent.

This fractured arm kept the champion in retirement for several months and sent all the top notchers in his division howling for his scalp. He farmed and courted all through the attack with now and then a newspaper story in which he went after his critics who said he was afraid to risk his crown in the ring with some of the boys who were after it.

He first agreed to meet Memsic on February 22, but changed his plans and tried out his arm in a couple of short distance affairs in New York and Philadelphia. Fistic experts here are willing to concede the champion a big advantage and believe that he will win, although they can not keep away from the probability that the arm will not stand a long route.

Betting on the outcome of the engagement favors Wolgast to the tunes of 2 to 1 and 10 to 7, but not a few fans who are unwilling to risk good coin are backing Memsic to take the measure of the title holder.

Unusual interest in the fight has been shown, and when the gong sounds it is predicted that a big crowd will be on hand to witness proceedings. It will be the first long fight of any importance out this way for close to a year, and the only one with a title at stake since the Nelson-Wolgast engagement of over a year ago at Point Richmond, not counting the Reno fiasco.

Both men report being O. K. as far as conditions are concerned, and each looks the part. They rounded off training this afternoon with a little jaunt and some shadow boxing, but neither man donned the mitts for a workout. Wolgast was in more too good shape when he arrived here from the east, but close attention to the training routine have brought him around, and Manager Tom Jones steps forth with the soother to the effect that adherents have no cause to feel nervous.

"I am in excellent shape and have no doubt as to the outcome," said Wolgast to the war scribes last night. "I think I am Memsic's master and will show the fans as much in today's bout. My left arm is apparently as strong as ever and my right couldn't be better. I will go in to win from the very start and then I will be ready to take on the eastern boys who are seeking my laurels."

The meeting will be the third between the two men. The other two fights, which were held here also, went over the ten-round route, and in each it was generally conceded that Wolgast had the advantage. Since then the champion has improved wonderfully, but Memsic long ago reached the height of his career, so there should be little reason for doubt regarding the result.

JEANNETTE BESTS JIM BARRY.

Heavyweight Has Chicagoan Nearly Out In Gotham Bout.

New York, March 17.—In a comparatively slow ten-round glove contest at the National Sporting club last night Joe Jeannette, negro heavyweight, outpointed Jim Barry of Chicago. Jeannette sails for Paris on Saturday and was anxious to make a good showing. He was quicker than Barry in every respect and did the greater amount of leading and landing. Barry was in trouble as the result of heavy punching in the sixth round.

FIGHTER DIES IN LONDON RING.

Doctors Certify That Heart Trouble Was Cause of Death and Not Blows.

London, March 17.—A local prize fighter named Dovey suddenly died last night during a fight at the National Sporting club. Doctors who were summoned certified that the man was a victim of heart trouble and that the blows he received were not responsible for his death.

LIVE SPORT WIRES.

Mineral Wells, Tex., March 17.—Charles Comiskey, owner of the White Sox, is pleased with this place as a training camp and has contracted for next season. The boosters have promised better accommodations in 1912.

New Orleans, La., March 17.—At a meeting of the Detroit players George Moriarity was appointed field captain, a position that has been vacant for a year.

Springfield, Ill., March 17.—A bill to legalize six-round, no-decision boxing bouts has been put before the Illinois legislature.

New Orleans, La., March 17.—President C. W. Murphy has decided to keep Harry Steinfeldt at third base. The veteran had packed his trunk and was ready to depart for training quarters when a session was held that resulted in his retention in his old position.

Hot Springs, Ark., March 17.—Catcher Bergen was sent from the Brooklyn training camp here today under suspension. He has failed to keep the training rules and Manager Dahlen would not stand for it. He had been warned before.

Hot Springs, Ark., March 17.—Denton T. Young announced today that he had never said this will be his last year in baseball, and announced that he will play as long as the public will stand for him.

OLD PLAYER SAYS WOMEN DO NOT UNDESTAND BASE BALL

"No woman ever understood baseball or ever can hope to."

So said James Robert McAleer to Julia Murdock, a Washington writer. He speaks with authority—from twelve years' marital experience and from more years of observation from the diamond than he cared at first to tell.

It wasn't that the Nationals' intrepid manager lacked chivalry. He explained apologetically that he didn't regard woman any less highly on that account. But, in strict regard for the truth, McAleer said he felt compelled to make the admission.

"There is my wife," he said, looking more enthusiastic than at any time during the interview. "She just about comes up to my shoulder, has a red head and a peaches and cream complexion like a girl of sixteen, and is full of ginger. If there ever was a true sportswoman she is one.

"But what does she know about baseball? She has been trailing around with me for twelve years, and since that time and in the days when we were courting she held down a grand stand seat just as religiously as most women go to church.

"For intelligence and common sense, I will stack her up against any woman in the land. She knows things I haven't time to learn and never will know. But when it comes to baseball—well, she just can't tell the difference between a foul fly catch and a three-bagger. And I haven't any false hopes that she will."

He thought for a minute or two and ignored several questions and then opened up again on the psychological shortcomings of woman as related to the national game. Only he did not call it that.

"It isn't that they are not interested," he went on thoughtfully. "They can holler with the best of them. But they seem to think the poor 'ump' gives decisions against their team just out of natural meanness and if some one on the other side pulls a good play they say he has a mean disposition."

By this time McAleer had become unmistakably enthusiastic. He paused suddenly and turned to his interviewer, who had apologized for not knowing baseball thoroughly, and said smilingly:

"So you see I don't hold that against you since you are a woman."

STUDYING A NEW SYSTEM

Local Pennsy Officials Look Into Division Agent Question.

CARPENTERS PLAN A BIG MEETING

Will Have One of the International Officers Present.

E. A. Fenton, division agent of the Erie and Ashtabula branch of the Pennsylvania Northwest system, accompanied Supt. W. M. Wardrop and his staff officers on the inspection trips over the Western division Wednesday and Thursday. The "division agent" is a recent creation and is in the experimental stage on the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburg. Instead of reporting to the superintendent, the station agents on the E. & A. road report to the division agent, and as his duties are confined to that particular department, he is better able to give questions connected therewith more attention than would be the superintendent. This system has been in vogue on the E. & A. for two or more years, with Mr. Fenton at the head of it, and it has worked admirably. Some of the other divisions may adopt it. "Mr. Fenton accompanied us on our inspection trips," said Mr. Wardrop, "to see how well we got along without the division agency system and to give us an opportunity to study that system and determine whether or not it is better than our system." Mr. Fenton has given this subject great study and about a year ago explained it in a communication published by the Railway Age which attracted considerable favorable comment from railway men in the United States and Canada. Mr. Fenton and Mr. Wardrop were closely associated in railway work on the E. & A. several years. He left for his home in New Castle last night.

NOVEL INSPECTION CAR.

On their inspection trip over the Western division of the Pennsylvania Wednesday and Thursday Supt. W. M. Wardrop and the heads of the several departments occupied a car fitted up especially for that purpose under the direction of Master Car Builder J. A. Graham. An ordinary coach was taken into the shops, where one of the doors was replaced by another with a wider and longer glass, extending to the floor, and two of the end seats were shifted to the center, giving the occupants a good view of the track and adjacent grounds. The officials were pleased with the arrangements and will keep the car on the division so it can be called into service for inspection trips at any time. It required about two hours to make the transformation from coach to inspection car and vice versa and when not needed for inspection trips it will be used as coach on a passenger train.

CIGARMAKERS TO ENTERTAIN.

Next Friday night the local Cigarmakers union will be host at an open meeting at Harmony hall and if the plans are carried out, it will be one of the best union meetings of its kind of the season. Chairman Sam Randolph, of the committee on arrangements, is giving the matter a good deal of attention and announces that a part of the program will be speeches by some of the leading labor leaders of the country, including, if possible, J. M. Barnes, of the Cigarmakers, and Mr. Collins, of the Machinists, both of Chicago. Another feature will be the singing of the Concordia Singing society and music by a large orchestra. The Sentinel will publish the program in full later.

PLAN A BIG MEETING.

No. 232, Carpenters and Joiners' union, anticipates a great meeting on the evening of March 30, when an effort will be made to have one of the international officers present, possibly W. D. Huber, the president. At the meeting last night preliminary arrangements were made for this big meeting and instructions were given to invite President Huber. This will be an open meeting and it may be held at Harmony hall because of lack of accommodations for a very large crowd at Carpenters' hall. There will, it is said, be a class of fifty or more applicants to be initiated that evening and this will be one of the interesting features of the evening.

MORE MONEY FOR PENSIONS.

The Pennsylvania railroad has just added $200,000 to the appropriation for pension purposes on the parent road and other lines east of Pittsburg, making the total upwards of $850,000. The number of employes east of Pittsburg entitled to pensions has increased from 2320 December 31, 1909, to 2505 December 31, 1910, and during the eleven years the pension system has been in existence $6,500,000 has been paid out for that purpose. The oldest employe on the pension list this week attained the age of ninety-three years.

MACHINIST BOWMAN RECOVERS.

G. A. Bowman, employed in the tank department of the Pennsylvania round house, was able to report for duty this morning. Three weeks ago he had a hand slightly injured and paid but little attention to it. The wound soon became affected, however, and blood poisoning set in and for awhile he suffered greatly. He has almost recovered.

CALLED TO WABASH.

H. B. Krall, a heater at once of the frame fires in the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop, will go to Wabash tonight to see his father-in-law, who is near death's door as the result of a stroke of paralysis. The aged patient is the father of Mrs. Krall, who went to Wabash yesterday, upon receipt of news of his condition.

MORRISON SPEAKS TONIGHT.

"Gas Engines" will be the subject of a paper to be read this evening by A. B. Morrison before the Fort Wayne division of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers. Mr. Morrison is connected with the sales department of the Fort Wayne Electric works and is well versed in the subject on which he will talk tonight.

IS A FARMER NOW.

J. I. Alsfasser, who took up a homestead in Colorado four or five years ago and is now a regular tiller of the soil, is here to spend a few days with his relatives and friends. Before going west Alsfasser was employed as a caller of train crews by the Pennsylvania and is well known to railway men in the city.

SHOPS CLOSED TOMORROW

The Pennsylvania shops will be closed tomorrow, except for emergency work. The temporary suspension is made to afford opportunity to do some repair work and also to keep expenses within the appropriation for the month of March. Operations will be resumed Monday morning.

WILL MAKE NO CHANGES.

President Daniel Willard and General Manager W. C. Loree, of the Baltimore and Ohio, announce that there will be no changes in the departments, and thus put at ease some anxious ones who might be affected were changes to be made.

LEFT FOR HOT SPRINGS.

Engineer E. M. Stokes, who has been ailing for some time and who was too sick to work several weeks ago, left today for Hot Springs, Ark., where he will take treatment at the sanitarium. Mrs. Stokes is accompanying her husband.

HAD A FINGER CRUSHED.

William Hake, an armature winder at the Electric works, had the second finger of his right hand stripped of a portion of its flesh yesterday afternoon when the digit was caught in the coil. He pluckily reported for duty this morning.

FINGER SPLIT OPEN.

Machinist George Kallenbach had the fourth finger of his right hand split yesterday by getting caught in some of the machinery he was operating. The digit will not be amputated, but will put Mr. Kallenbach on the disability list awhile.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Tony Rose, assistant tool room keeper at the Electric works, is sick and off duty.

Walter Koos, packer at the Electric works, has returned from Decatur, where he spent a week with relatives and friends.

J. J. Schallenberger, an apprentice in the mechanical department of the Pennsylvania, will spend Sunday in Chicago with friends.

Assistant Foreman A. S. Courtney, of the Pennsylvania machine shop, went to Pittsburg last night on business for the company.

W. H. Tegeder is back in the Pennsylvania shops again, after an absence on account of the illness of his mother. The patient is slightly improved.

Fireman Metcalf, of the Pennsylvania, had a foot scalded Tuesday by a stream of water pouring out upon it when a pipe of the engine was opened.

Conductor W. H. Gillum, aged sixty-three, is dead at his home in Altoona, after a ten days' illness. Conductor Gillum commenced working for the company in the capacity of brakeman in 1865 and became a passenger conductor in 1878.

Division Freight Agent W. A. Sprott, of the Wabash, who came down from Toledo yesterday on business for the company, left this morning for home. A. L. Gilbert, local freight agent, accompanied Mr. Sprott to Toledo this morning.

The annual convention of the railroad signal engineers will be held in Chicago next week. This meeting will be of especial interest as there have been some very important inventions brought out since the last meeting and they will be illustrated and demonstrated.

Purchasing Agent T. J. Frier, of the Wabash, is on this division to spend a day or two in going over the situation with Division Storekeeper H. W. Hurst. Mr. Hurst had other plans and was at the depot to take a train for Detroit, when a telegram advised him of the coming of Mr. Frier.

Louis Linker came to his work in the Pennsylvania planing mills this morning with a heavy weight upon his heart. Last night his little pet dog "tackled" a bulldog and was so badly used up that it died soon after the fight. The canine was a general pet with the children in the vicinity of the Linker home.

Governor Tener has definitely answered the committee of arrangements for the biennial convention of the B. R. T. at Harrisburg, concerning an invitation to deliver an address of welcome for the state. He has accepted the invitation and also the invitation to introduce President Taft at the open meeting to be held the following Sunday.

The public is cordially invited to attend the millinery opening Saturday afternoon and evening, March 18th.

DIABETES

From late figures the hope of recovery under the new emollient treatment seems to be about as follows:

In people of sixty and over results are quite uniform, probably nine-tenths recovering. While at fifty and over a large majority of all cases yield to the treatment, below fifty and approaching forty the disease gets more stubborn, and between thirty and forty the percentage is not high—probably not much over half yielding.

Under thirty the percentage is less and in children recoveries have been very few and most of those were obtained with the aid of skilled physicians forcing nutrition, with alkaline treatment to prevent formation of acetones.

The new emollient treatment is known as Fulton's Diabetic Compound. It can be had in Fort Wayne at the D. & N. Pharmacy, 624 Calhoun St.

We desire every patient to write us who is not noting the usual improvement by the third week. Always state age. Literature mailed free. Jno. J. Fulton Co., 645 Battery St., San Francisco, Cal. We invite correspondence with physicians who have obstinate cases.

TWO NEW YEAR FAIRIES

"I wish I could become a fairy this New Year!" exclaimed Bess, closing a book of fairy tales she had been reading.

"And then?" asked mamma, looking up from her sewing.

"I'd fly around and do good all the time. I'd be on the lookout for little girls who help at home, and give them fairy gifts, and the naughty children I'd punish as they deserved. Oh, I'd love to be one!"

"You can be the little fairy if you wish," quietly answered mamma.

"Can I, really? Then I will just as soon as you tell me how. I'll drop pearls and diamonds in your path"—

"I'm afraid," interrupted her mother, "were you able to scatter real jewels about you'd bring much unhappiness. But there are other precious jewels, and these you can scatter to your heart's content. Helpfulness, mindfulness and courteousness are very precious in every household, and every house is incomplete without a fairy to administer these blessings."

"Oh," exclaimed Bess, "I think I know what you mean. I will help cook with her work. I can run errands. I can help Susie with her lessons. I can read to granny. I'm going"—

"Stop!" cried mamma. "Fairies never talk about their duties. In fact, they do them so quietly and quickly that you never suspect they are at work."

Bess understood again and skipped out of the room—quite fairy-like—to begin at once.

Oh, what a happy time that little household fairy had all the next week, and how happy everybody seemed to be who came under her precious wand!

"Where do all your smiles come from?" asked granny next day, watching the fairy at her tasks.

"I carry a basket of smiles and pleasant words under my magic cloak, granny."

"Let me see them?" asked Susie.

"Couldn't raise the lid for fear they'd fly out. But I'll show you how to be a fairy, too."

"Is it fun?" again asked Susie.

"Fun!" exclaimed Bess. "I wouldn't stop for the world. I've never been so happy before. It's great!"

Then mamma had two little household fairies, who never forgot themselves, no matter how many temptations arose to change their smiles into tears, for even fairies have reverses sometimes.

One day mamma said to granny: "I wish all the children in the world could see my fairies and try to be like them. Just think of all the happiness there would be in the world!"

Granny said she knew of a way to let them all take a peep, and she wrote this story for all the little folks to copy from.

New Way Knocks Rheumatism

D-M-F Proves Startling Success.

Guaranteed Absolutely As To Results.

The problem of ridding the system completely of uric acid deposits which cause rheumatism has been solved, as stated by many chronic sufferers who have used it, by the novel remedy called D-M-F, perfected after 30 years of exhaustive tests.

Its unique action is one of the features which most attracts the attention of the sufferer using it. Unlike any other treatment of its kind known, it produces results or "signals" by which the patient has been able to clearly foretell the complete eradication of the disease.

D-M-F has been remarkably effective in every form of rheumatism, a feature which is extremely unusual.

C. W. Beson, M. D., one of the most prominent physicians in Oklahoma, known for his success in treating rheumatism, says:

"The cases for this test were selected from the various chronic forms commonly known as incurables, and all forms of the disease have yielded to the D-M-F treatment. Convinced that with D-M-F there are no incurable forms of the disease, I am now ready to stake my professional reputation on my ability to cure all forms of rheumatism with this treatment."

The best news of all for the rheumatic is that D-M-F is guaranteed as to results.

D-M-F is singularly free from any opiates or dangerous drugs of any description, and is easily assimilated by the weakest stomach.

Full explanations of the wonderful action of D-M-F on rheumatism, lumbago, gout and neuralgia, are packed with every bottle. Begin taking a bottle of D-M-F today, and you may safely drop every other rheumatism treatment you may now be taking.

Get D-M-F at your druggist at $1.00 a bottle. If you are satisfied with it, as you will be, get 6 bottles for $5.00, and get rid of your affliction. If your druggist cannot supply you, it will be sent on receipt of price by the D-M-F Medicine Co., 2715 Lincoln Ave., Chicago, Ill. The first bottle will convince every sufferer.

"D. M. F." is recommended and sold in Fort Wayne by Bradley Bros., D. & N. Pharmacy, People's Drug Store, Jac. Nuhbaum, C. H. Albersmeyer, Dreier Drug Co.

Bring Your Prescription Here

There's but one element common to all prescriptions—good and bad—and that's the formula.

There are different ways of compounding, the scientific and careless way; different kinds of drugs to use, the excellent and the inferior ones; different prices to be charged, the fancy and the moderate price.

Our careful compounding by skilled chemists, with the freshest and best drugs obtainable, at prices that are not exorbitant, like so-called prescription prices, and a promptness that comes only of a desire to make this the cornerstone of our business, are the four cardinal points of this growing business.

Here You'll Always Find Prescription Accuracy.

MAN WAS MERELY AHEAD OF TIMES

Pennington's Scheme for a Trolley Line Later Made Reality.

OTHERS MADE IT WIN

Noblesville, Ind., March 17.—Edward J. Pennington, whose death is announced at Springfield, Mass., was the "get-rich-quick" J. Rufus Wallingford of Indiana twenty years ago. Pennigton was an erratic genius, whose aims at promotion were generally too high to be achieved at the time his ideas became ripe, though he did some things that attracted attention.

Pennington came to Noblesville early in the nineties and attempted to promote an interurban lie from Indianapolis through this city, Tipton, Kokomo, Logansport and to Chicago. His plan was the same as the Indiana Union Traction company afterward carried opt with the exception that Pennington's project was to have reached Indianapolis by way of Fishers station instead of Carmel. Pennington established an office in this city, fitted it up with handsome furniture and started to promoting his enterprise. He said he had patented a gasoline motor which he intended to operate on the cars. The promoter made a good showing. He built a mile of the grade south of this city parallel with the tracks of the Lake Erie and Western railroad, mostly. Noblesville laborers and teamsters being employed on the job.

At the expiration of thirty days, when the pay of these men became due, Pennington made an effort to smooth matters over until the next pay day, but failed, and the bubble burst. He and several of his assistants left Noblesville between two days and never visited here again. They never settled their board bills, much less paying the men who worked on the road.

A great deal of the power which Pennington had over men in this locality was traceable to his engaging manners and impressive personal appearance. He was six feet two inches in height and built in proportion. He was always dressed in a black or gray frock coat. There was hardly an office boy who would dare stop him on his way into an office, and private secretaries were easy game for him. He was equally successful in fooling their employers.

After leaving Noblesville Pennington was frequently heard from in England and New York, where he made several attempts to promote airship companies, patent motor concerns and other schemes.

At one time he was said to be a millionaire.

JOHN WANAMAKER'S GOLDEN JUBILEE

The name of John Wanamaker is indicative of big things, big ideas, big enterprises. At the very beginning of his business career he showed the big qualities of mind and heart which have made his business what it is today.

The first day's receipts of the little store which he opened in Philadelphia fifty years ago were $24.67. He "kept the 67 cents for making change next day," and immediately spent the $24 for newspaper advertising.

That investment took courage, a bigger amount of courage than the expenditure of ten thousand times the amount would cost him now. It meant, too, a big confidence in his goods and a big knowledge of human nature.

This year Mr. Wanamaker completes a full half century of business life, and his associates have celebrated the occasion by publishing a volume called "The Golden Book of the John Wanamaker Stores."

It is interesting reading, this Golden Jubilee Book. It is the story of a pigmy which grew into a giant because it had a giant's heart. Although a tale of peaceful commerce, it is a record of exciting battles fought and won for a principle. It is the history of a Great Revolution in Business Methods; of interest to, and with an influence on, every person who either buys or sells anything in the civilized world today.

John Wanamaker was the Apostle of Fair Play in business; from the beginning of his career he preached and practiced the doctrine that a bargain was not a bargain unless both parties to it benefited by the transaction.

The present generation cannot appreciate the disbelief, opposition and ridicule with which the announcement of this new policy was received.

The millions of shoppers scattered each day throughout the great stores of the country are indebted to John Wanamaker for the consideration, courtesy and fair dealing which they now receive.

Throughout the whole of the half century since he started his little store, John Wanamaker has breathed into its workings the Spirit of Originality and Progress. There was no standing still in any one of the fifty years. Every step forward brought out new ideas, new fields explored, new methods for the convenience of customers, new plans for the comfort and safety of his constantly growing army of employes.

A fixed price, exchange of goods or refund of money, courtesy with no obligation to buy, rigid investigation of manufacturers' statements and absolutely no misrepresentation of goods, are ordinary business virtues expected now in any first-class store—because John Wanamaker fought and won a battle for each principle involved.

Shorter business days, summer vacations with full pay, Saturday half-holidays, sanitary conditions of work, an insurance association, pension roll, and circulating library, are some of the ideas first worked out by John Wanamaker for the welfare of his employes.

He taught the public how to buy. His show windows and counters, containing articles suitable for every purse and marked in plain figures, educated his customers to a sense of comparative values and showed them how their money could be most wisely spent. Within his great New York store he built a "House Palatial" for the rich at a cost of over a quarter of a million; and then created beside it a series of moderate-cost model apartments, showing in concrete form how an entire home could be furnished in perfect taste for a few hundred dollars.

Mr. Wanamaker's fifty years of business and his services as postmaster general made him a host of friends in public life, many of whom have shown in speeches and articles their appreciation of his qualities of mind and heart. It is especially fitting that the photographs of some of these men, with extracts from their expressions of confidence and esteem, should be included in the book of Mr. Wanamaker's Golden Jubilee.

The volume is library size, handsomely bound in cloth and gold, and contains over 400 pages with numerous illustrations. Price 50 cents, postpaid, from the Wanamaker Stores at New York or Philadelphia.

AS THE CHINESE FISH.

Even an Unbaited Hook Has Success in the Orient.

(North China News.)

As we passed through the townlet of Hukou on the Nadoo creek a crowd was on the bank watching the maneuvers of two fishermen who were reaping a harvest of mussels and winkles. These fishermen were dressed in fowling costume—a cowskin coat and stocking all in one piece, with their hair turned inside.

The only apertures in the garment into which the wearers worked their way, feet foremost, were at the neck and the cuffs, which were tied before entering the water, into which the men waded up to their necks. As soon as their feet came in contact with any of the shell-fish, which seemed to lie in beds, the fishermen loosened them as well as they could from the muddy bottom of the creek and then brought up the "take" in a grasp net.

Another sight which interested us was a novel way of fishing. Two small boats were moving parallel with each other about thirty feet apart. The ends of a line about sixty feet long to which small, unbaited hooks were attached about four inches apart to two sticks were held respectively by a man in each boat. As the boats moved slowly along, first one man and then the other would give his stick a jerk.

Immediately that the hooks struck anything the line was gradually hauled in and invariably with success. We saw fish struck four out of five times, many of them running apparently from half a pound to two or more pounds. It may be that China is the only place in the world where fish are caught with unbaited hooks.

MONEY FOR LAKE AVENUE LACKING

Board of Works Would Like to Make Improvement But Can Not.

THE BOARD ROUTINE

If funds were available for paving Lake avenue from Crescent to Walton avenue the board of public works would be glad to do it but there are not more than a dozen lots against which assessments could be levied, as most of the distance is park frontage and it will not be done this season unless a great change comes over the members. The estimattd cost to the city is about $7,000.

No action was taken last night at the board's session on the vacation of First and Harrison streets because Judge Walter Olds, attorney for the Lake Shore, was ill.

Resolutions were adopted for paving Wayne street from Nelson to St. Mary's river; sidewalks on Sturgis street from Fulton to Broadway, Pontiac from Hanna to Walton avenue, Thomas street from Pontiac to McKee, Holton avenue from Pontiac to McKee, Maud street from Thomas to Holton, Jefferson street from Lafayette to Harmer, and High street from Runnion avenue to the G. R. & I. railroad were adopted and specifications for the work approved.

Third street will be graded from Romy's addition to Runnion avenue.

Plans were ordered for sidewalks on the south side of Lewis street from Hanna to Ohio.

Remonstrances were filed against the paving of Park avenue and John street and Perrine Armstrong & Co. asked that the Wabash and C. H. & D. Railroad companies and the Engineering company be compelled to put down walks on Winter street. This was taken under advisement. William F. Lageman sent a communication to the effect that only $900 had been awarded him in the opening of Force street and that his roperty will be damaged to the extent of $1,500.

Lieth street property owners asked that the paving of the street be taken up as soon as possible and the board promised to see that it is done.

One Year for Work.

One year will be required to revise and codify the city ordinances. This was decided on at a meeting of the council committee on revision with City Attorney Hogan last night. There has been no revision since 1901 and in the meantime more measures have been passed than in the preceding decade. In 1901 six months were required to do the work. The committee will get to work at once on the big task.

When you have rheumatism in your foot or instep apply Chamberlain's Liniment and you will get quick relief. It costs but a quarter. Why suffer? For sale by all dealers.

At Seattle Dr. Crichton has ordered the use of Puget Sound sea water to lay the dust and flush the streets. "Salt water is one of the best germicides in the world," says Dr. Crichton. "Sea water contains several grains of chloride of sodium to the gallon, and within a few days the city's streets will become white with sodium chloride and the action of the sun's rays on this will produce chloride gas, one of the very best disinfectants known to science."

The Beat of the Year

By Robert Livingston Beecher

COPYRIGHT, 1910, BY THE PEARSON PUBLISHING CO.

"Well, me lad," broke in McGinnis, cheerily, "buck up. I'll do what I kin for yer. I've got a boy nigh on yer age and I likes to see the young uns putting in a few licks for themselves. Suppose we fix things up this way. If this turns out O. K. and this man's the real article, and yer the only one who gets on to him, I'll charge yer sheet what we agreed on in the beginning—five plunks an hour. If we're barking up the wrong alley, I'll charge yer just two an hour, and if yer don't want to hand in a bill for the whole amount, I'll make out a smaller one and yer kin pay me the rest yerself when yer gets round to it. That's fair, ain't it? Yer may need me and me rig over in New York, yer know. Besides, if there was any shindy and Mike McGinnis missed it, he'd kick himself as far as Coney Island an' back."

Bruce took out his handkerchief and wiped the perspiration from his forehead.

"You're all right, McGinnis," he said, "I don't know how to thank you. This cab business was worrying me. I was afraid I'd have to quit you and go over to Manhattan alone."

McGinnis turned quickly.

"Was yer afraid to leave me for fear I'd give you away to yer pals back in the stable?" he asked sharply.

"Not at all," replied the younger man. "What I meant was I thought I might need you in the place we're bound for and, if I did, I'd need you badly."

"So yer might," rejoined the Irishman, his suspicions dissipated in an instant. "An' if yer do, I'll indivor to plant a few licks where they'll do the most good."

An hour later, McGinnis turned the mare's head into a Manhattan side street in the Fifties, and guided her into a doorway of a stable. He nodded familiarly to the proprietor, drove into one of the dark corners at the rear, and then tied the reins around the whip socket.

A walk of several blocks brought Bruce and McGinnis, ten minutes later, before a dingy-looking flat house.

"We're detectives from Headquarters," said the younger man, in a low tone. The big man's eyes twinkled.

The two men stepped into the vestibule and the younger pressed the electric button under the letter-box bearing the name "Greening." Through the inner glass door a gas jet could be seen burning dimly in the dark hall.

When a second pressure of the button brought no response, the younger man rang the janitor's bell. Almost simultaneously, the door opened and a tall, dark man of rather slight stature and a face in which cunning and greed seemed struggling for the mastery, stood dimly outlined beneath the flickering light.

"Well," said he surlily, "what do you want?"

"Is Mr. Greening at home?" asked the younger man.

"Didn't I see you ringing his bell?" replied the man in the doorway. "If he don't answer it, he ain't home. That's plain, ain't it?"

"Do you know when he went out?" persisted the first speaker.

"Nope."

"Well, when does he generally come in at night?"

"About eight," replied the janitor. "Who are you, friends of his?"

"Yes," replied the younger man, "we're old chums. We'll wait for him in his rooms."

The speaker made a step forward, but the dark man blocked his way.

"Can't let you," he said. "Against strict orders. I never let anyone into his rooms when he's out."

The two men in the vestibule looked at each other. The younger shrugged his shoulders.

"Well," said he, addressing himself once more to the dark man, "the truth's got to come out, sooner or later, We're detectives from Police Headquarters." He threw back his coat, revealing a nickel-plated shield pinned upon his waistcoat. "I'm Lieutenant Bruce. This is Lieutenant McGinnis. Take us upstairs."

The janitor hesitated, studied the faces of the two men, and then turned and started up the stairs. The two men followed close at his heels. The inner door snapped to with a bang behind them.

On the floor above, the dark man fitted a key in a lock and the three men passed into a large room whose luxurious appointments were plainly out of keeping with the general style of the building itself.

The janitor closed the door and stood with his back against it, watching. The other two men looked about them. It was half past seven and the room was rapidly growing dark. Outside, an electric arc-light sputtered into being, and its rays fell through one of the windows upon a large flat-topped desk in the center of the room.

Bruce stepped to the desk, picked up a light rattan cane, and held it up to the light. On the German-silver top were two initials.

The young man looked at the initials for some time.

"Poor fellow," he said, at last.

"Poor girl," he added, in a louder tone.

The dark man leaning against the door straightened up and walked toward the desk.

"So it's another ladybird in trouble?" said he, with a leer. "They will git their wings singed, so why not singe 'em? What's up?"

"Murder," said McGinnis.

The janitor fell back against the door.

"Murder!" he repeated. "Murder! Who's murdered?"

"A poor chap named Joyce," said Bruce. "I guess you never heard of him."

"Where'd they find the body?" continued the man at the door.

"Newtown Creek," said Bruce.

The janitor started.

READ MRS. HERRICK'S SWORN STATEMENT

STATE OF NEW YORK } ss
COUNTY OF MONROE } ROCHESTER, N. Y.

Nancy A. Herrick, being duly sworn, deposes and says: When I was a girl, I had a head of heavy, long, dark brown hair which was the envy of my schoolmates, and which attracted the attention and remarks of strangers. As I grew older, my hair commenced to come out, just a little at first, but gradually more and more, and then began to turn gray. I was induced by the many good reports I had heard of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy to try a bottle. My hair was quite thin and gray when I began using Sage and Sulphur, and you can imagine my satisfaction when I found that it was fast coming back to its natural condition, being thicker, darker and more glossy than it had been for a long time. I continued to use Sage and Sulphur, and my hair is now as heavy, dark and smooth as when I was a girl of sixteen. It is now four years since I commenced using Sage and Sulphur, and my hair is still in splendid condition.

LIMEKILN TEARS.

The Life and Death of Sundown Jackson.

BROTHER GARDNER'S EULOGY.

Speaker Pays Tribute to the Honesty of the Deceased—Penalty of Poverty Paraded Before the Club and Its Policy Questioned.

By M. QUAD.

[Copyright, 1910, by Associated Literary Press.]

AT the last regular meeting of the Limekiln club, after the routine business had been disposed of, Brother Gardner arose and said:

"It am known to most of us yere to-night dat Brudder Sundown Jackson am wid us no mo'. He passed frota airth away fo' days ago, and many of us war at de funeral.

"It am de usual thing in a case of dis kind to interduce a resolushun seftin' fo'th de many varchews of de deceased and expressin' our sorrer. We shall do so on dis occashun, but I wish to say a few words aside from dat.

"Our resolushun says dat Brudder Jackson was an honest man. De idea, of co'se, is to praise him, but I am thinkin' it would have been jest as well fur de world and a heap better fur Brudder Jackson if he hadn't been quite so honest.

"I's knowin' to de fack dat he lived alongside a white man's watermillyon patch and saw de millyons rottin' on de ground and was too honest to touch one. Dar was folks who wondered whether he was an honest man or a fule.

"Dar was at least ten chicken coops in de alley whar Brudder Jackson resided, but nebber once in de long years did a white man come to him an ax him what had becum of dose fat pullets. Oh, yes, de white man said he was an honest man, but I'm axin' you if dat offsets chicken pie. Couldn't dar hav been a compromise? Couldn't Brudder Jackson have selected a tough old hen now and den and still retained his reputashun fur honesty?

"Brudder Jackson begun life wid a fine mewl and a beautiful wagon. In a year he was down to an ole wheelbarrer wid a wobbly wheel. He had been tradin'. He had been honest, and all de praise he got fur it was to be called an idiot.

"I was comin' home one night wid a bag of green co'n on my back when I encountered Brudder Jackson. He didn't have nuffin on his back. I offered to divide de co'n wid him, but when he found dat I had taken it from a field widout axin' de owner's consent he refused to share it. De consequence was dat I had co'n fur three days and he had none, and it turned out dat de white man was in Europe and expected de hull co'nfield to be stolen and didn't keer a hang if it was.

Returns Borrowed Money.

"On one occashun Brudder Jackson borrowed a dollar of me. He felt bad bekase I wouldn't take a mortgage on his cook stove. He wanted to gib me his note of hand. He sent me word three different times dat he would shorely pay, and at length he cum to my cabin one midnight and routed me outer bed to make good. I patted him on de back and called him an honest man, but at de same time I took it dat he was soft in de head.

"If Brudder Jackson went to de stoh and bought a two shillin' pair of suspenders and de pink sweat out de first day he wore 'em he didn't go back and call dat merchant a scoundrel and liar. No. He jest said dat mistakes was liable to happen and let it go at dat. He'd even go back to de same place and buy woolen socks dat was half cotton.

"If Brudder Jackson traded jackknives he begun feelin' sorry fur de odder feller. By de time he was ready to trade he had tears in his eyes and he was de owner of a knife dat wouldn't cut a turnip. De odder man said he was an honest man, but he also wondered when he would bring up in de porehouse."

"De resolushun to be interduced says dat Brudder Jackson was a Christian man. I'm shore he was—as he understood. I nebber quit agreed wid him. He thought it his Christian duty to clean de snow off anoder man's walk. I didn't. I jest shoveled clus to de line and let it go at dat.

"Brudder Jackson thought it his Christain duty to help de heathen of Africa. I've knowed him to chip in a quarter when his children hadn't tasted meat fur a week. I have allus let de heathen strike a job and airn his own libin', and I can't say dat my conscience has eber trubled me ober it.

TOO HONEST TO TAKE CORN.

"Brudder Jackson felt it his Christian duty to act as janitor of de church year arter year widout a cent of pay. He'd sweep and dust and clean, and if dar was a shortage of wood he'd take some from his own pile. He was allus prompt wid his pew rent, though he knowed dat some of de rest of us was behind from seben to ten years. Mebbe de angels gib him a mighty big credit mark for dis, but I dunno—I dunno. De odder 300 members of de church took things easy, and dey am all spectin' to slip into heben when de time comes.

Made Poor by Christianity.

"Brudder Jackson thought it his Christian duty to chip in for Sunday school excursions and to buy new shingles for de meetin' house. He was praised for dis, but at de same time his children was too ragged to go on excursions, and dar was mo' holes in de roof of his cabin dan in de roof of de meetin' house.

"Brudder Jackson thought it was his Christian duty to advise a white man to sell his auto and divide de price up among pore widows, and de bootin' he got kept him around home fo' four days.

"Dis resolushun says dat Brudder Jackson was a good naybur. So he was, but I don't reckon we'd better say too much about it. He lent his ax, his hoe, his shovel, his rake and his wheelbarrer and nebber dun got 'em back ag'in. He'd bring home a pound of coffee and lend all but a pinch. If he brung home a roast of mutton his fam'ly nebber got half of it. For de last five years of his life he was without a clock or a teapot in de house bekase he had lent 'em out.

"I try to be naybuly wid my nayburs, but I's tellin' you dat when I lend a cup of coffee of a flatiron and dey don't cum back I hain't at home to dat pusson when he calls ag'in. A good naybur am a pusson who takes a piece of chalk and marks down day and date on de kitchen doah and holds you to it.

"In dat resolushun Brudder Jackson am spoken of as a friend to humanity at large. Yes, I guess dat's right. It was mo' to humanity at large dan to his own fam'ly. He was lettin' humanity at large beat de eyeteeth outer him while his wife and children shivered ober a cold stove. He was chippin' in a dollar to buy de preacher an overcoat when his wife hadn't a second dress to her back. I'm a friend to humanity in gineral, but I want my bacon and aigs and coffee for breakfast.

Minus Enemies and Friends.

"It am stated dat Brudder Jackson was of a forgivin' disposishun. I don't see whar dat am gwine to help him much. I know dat he was kicked and cuffed and cheated and swindled and didn't lay it up agin de parties, but it am my opinyun dat if he had punched mo' heads and got de best of at least half de bargains he wouldn't have lost any of de respect of de world at large.

"It am stated dat Brudder Jackson did not leave an enemy behind him. Dat may be tooken as a compliment or not. De man who kin rustle along in dis world for fo'ty years and not step on anybody's toes am a dodger for suah. If he don't make any enemies I reckon he don't make any friends.

"Ag'in, it has said dat de world will long remember him. We'll cut dat out. De world ain't trubblin' itself to remember people who have passed away and can't be made use of any longer. In dis Limekiln club we shall remember de brudder for a few months, but de outside world has no tears to shed. It's lookin' for 50 per cent profits on its investments.

"Let us say of Brudder Jackson dat he filled his niche on airth accordin' to his lights and went away believin' he had done his best. We didn't see things his way, and he didn't see 'em our way, and we will let it pass at dat. De hall will be draped in mournin', and his seat will be vacant for a month. In place of de resolushun we'll send his fam'ly $20, and if his specrit is whar it can look down on us I reckon it will see things from a cash basis. Let us now break de meetin' in two and go home."

Probably.

Foley Kidney Pills

For Backache, Rheumatism Kidney and Bladder Disorders

Foley Kidney Pills are healing and antiseptic, and give immediate relief. They are tonic in action and quick in results.

Geo. E. Bell, 639 Third St., a well known citizen of Fort Wayne, Ind., and for many years a conductor on the Nickel Plate, writes us: "Twenty years of railroading left my kidneys in a broken down and terrible condition. There was soreness and a continual pain across my back and hips and the poor action of my kidneys gave me much distress and annoyance accompanied by an irritating sensation. I was troubled with dizziness and I also tired easily. I began taking Foley Kidney Pills, and the first bottle showed a wonderful improvement, and four bottles finally cured me completely. Since being cured, I have recommended Foley Kidney Pills to many railroad men and friends who also have gotten good results from their use."

MUNCIE MAN WILL FURNISH A BOND

George A. Ball, Indicted in Alaska Coal Land Claims Fraud.

VAST AREA INVOLVED

Chicago, March 17.—George M. Seward, receiver for A. C. Frost & Co., who with eight others, was indicted yesterday on charges of conspiring to defraud the government out of $10,000,000 worth of mineral lands in Alaska, today furnished a $5,000 bond for his appearance in court.

George A. Ball, of Muncie, Ind., announced he would furnish bond Monday. Other defendants are out of the country.

MAY EXTINGUISH CLAIMS.

Washington, March 17.—Out of the thousand odd coal selections in Alaska which the government through the land office is investigating for fraud 640 covering more than 102,000 acres, are involved directly or indirectly in the indictments so far returned by grand juries in Spokane, Tacoma, Detroit and Chicago.

Although the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy halted the work on these claims the investigations were vigorously resumed last June. The result of these renewed efforts so far has been the indictment of the participants in the Dunn, Doughton, Stracey, Christopher, Simmonds, Detroit and Watson or Frost groups of claims.

In view of the fact that evidence sufficient to secure indictments has been secured, it would indicate that the evidence is such as to demand a showing on the part of the locators as to why their claims should not be cancelled.

YOUNG DESPERADO SENTENCED.

Anderson, Ind., March 17.—"Gee, I wish I had a gun." That was the way Forest Agnew, 21 years old, greeted a sentence of ten to twenty-one years in prison for robbery, handed down by Judge Baggot today.

"You've had too much experience with guns already," answered the court.

"I'll get you when I get out," shouted the prisoner and he made a rush for the judge, but was held back by bailiffs who led him away handcuffed.

DISASTER AT HUNTINGTON.

Huntington, Ind., March 17.—As a result of a small explosion, a dozen of Huntington's select young men will attend a St. Patrick's ball tonight, minus their dress suits. That number of young men had hurried their party attire to a tailo rto be pressed and in his rush to get them out today had an explosion of gasoline, which destroyed the suits.

RAILROAD MAN BANKRUPT.

George G. Collens, railroad employe at Elkhart, has filed a petition in bankruptcy in Fort Wayne, scheduling liabilities of $540.18 and assets of $90.

KILLED AT RICHMOND.

Richmond, Ind., March 17.—John Phelps, aged 30, a Pennsylvania railroad brakeman, was killed near here today when he was knocked from a car.

Mr. Tucker—It means, Tommy, that he's—aw—up against it.—Chicago Tribune.

Saves Health of Old People—Trial Free

A healthy old couple who have lived a long life together make an ideal picture. But unfortunately so many old people have a dismal life. Even if they are otherwise in good health they seem to suffer from constipation and indigestion. It is the penalty of old age. To old people, the best advice is—Be careful of your food. But even that is not all. The stomach and bowel muscles are no longer as active as they used to be and on that account movement of the bowels is more difficult. To aid nature take a mild laxative like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin whenever you find yourself becoming constipated or when you have any difficulty digesting your food. It is not strong like salts or purgatives, but is mild, gentle and non-griping—just what elderly people need. It is the best laxative for old people, as it is for women and children. Many men and women far beyond seventy have been able to discard all medicines after a brief use of Syrup Pepsin. The regular bottles can be obtained of any druggist at fifty cents or one dollar, but we suggest that you make a free trial of it first, as so many others have done. Send your address to Dr. Caldwell and he will send you a free sample bottle.

Look for This Picture on Pkg.

Dr. Caldwell does not feel that the purchase of his remedy ends his obligation. He has specialized in stomach, liver and bowel diseases for over forty years and will be pleased to give the reader any advice on the subject free of charge. All are welcome to write him. Whether for the medical advice or the free sample address him Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 541 Caldwell Building, Monticello, Ill.

The following are some extracts from letters Dr. Caldwell has received:

"Your free sample bottle came in due time and I was so gratified with results that I bought a larger bottle and am so in favor of its effects that I am putting others on the track to get relief. I am 79 years old and have been troubled with a torpid liver, but feel that I now have the right remedy and will no longer have the trouble. Also it acts without inconvenience."—Mrs. W. H. Carter, Maywood, Ill.

"I am 73 years old; have been seriously afflicted with heart trouble for over 15 years, unable to do anything during that time; have spent all I had doctoring with several local doctors and many specialists, all to no purpose. My case is a very hard one and incurable; constipation of a very serious nature. I would, for years, go from three to five days without a movement; would take pills, salts, etc., until I was entirely tired of life. Have tried everything. I saw your ad; sent for free sample of Syrup Pepsin, received it and it did me so much good that I got a 50c bottle and have taken it as per directions regularly; shall get another bottle today. It has done me a world of good. It is the nicest to take and the most effective of any remedy I have ever used. It is simply a god-send to me."—A. A. Lewis, R. 2, Box 51, Bentonville, Ark.

"I received your free sample of Syrup Pepsin and have taken it and am now taking a $1.00 bottle. It is doing me a great deal of good. I have had trouble more or less with my stomach ever since I left the army, but have never taken very much medicine for it, but the sample you sent me did me so much good I thought I would give it a trial. It is helping me and I shall continue to take it. I can recommend it to any one having stomach trouble and heart trouble."—Geo. S. Spaulding, Nat. Soldiers' Home, Kansas.

"I have tried your Syrup Pepsin and found it all that you claim. I am recommending it to the old veterans and they are buying it on my word. I shall use it as long as I live. I cannot praise it enough."—Enos Gilpin, National Soldiers' Home, Danville, Ill.

DANDYISM IN 1772.

Extravagant Fashions of the Macaronies in Georgian Days.

(From "Beau Brummell and His Times.")

Dandyism developed a new phase of quiet richness during early Georgian times, and the court exquisites were stately figures in finely laced shirts, long-skirted coats and gold clocked stockings. The hats worn by the beaux were modified reproductions of those in fashion at Versailles, and the art of wearing them was shown in the tilt; in fact, different angles in the tilt identified the wearer's status and locality.

In 1772 dandyism became again paramount. A band of young bloods returned from an extended tour abroad, and while in Italy they had contrived to get several new ideas about dress into their somewhat empty heads.

Fired with an ever-growing sense of their own importance as arbiters of fashion, they formed themselves into a group known as the Macaroni club, in contradistinction to the good old-fashioned Beefsteak club, of London.

The Macaronies dressed their hair in enormous side curls, with a hideous knocker-like twist at the back. With this exaggerated coiffure a tiny hat was worn, which it was correct for the wearer to raise with his tasseled cane.

A soft white handkerchief was tied in a huge bow under the Macaroni's chin; his coat was short and his tight knee breeches were made of striped or flowered silk. Thus garbed, with innumerable dangling seals, two watches at least, silk stockings and diamond-buckled shoes, the dandy walked abroad, eminently satisfied with himself, and quite convinced that his appearance was greatly envied.

IN THE ARMENIAN CONVENT.

One of the Things That Came Into a Travelers View.

(Thackeray, Eastern Sketches.)

By far the most comfortable quarters in Jerusalem are those of the Armenians, in their convent of St. James. Wherever we have been these Eastern Quakers look grave and joly and sleek. Their convent at Mount Zion is big enough to contain two or three thousand of their faithful, and their church is ornamented by the most rich and hideous gifts ever devised by uncouth piety. Instead of a bell the monks of the convent beat huge noises on a board and drub the faithful into prayers. I never saw men more lazy and rosy than these reverend fathers, kneeling in their comfortable matted church, or sitting in easy devotion. Pictures, images and gilding, tinsel, wax candles twinkle all over the place, and ten thousand ostriches' eggs or any lesser number you may allot, dangle from the vaulted ceiling. There were great numbers of people at worship in this gorgeous church. They went on their knees, kissing the walls with much fervor and paying reverence to the most precious relic of the convent, the chair of St. James, their patron, the first bishop of Jerusalem.

Mrs. Offner, wife of Machinist Frank B. Offner, of the Fort Wayne Electric works, who has been very ill for the past two weeks, will submit to a surgical operation as soon as she gains sufficient strength for the ordeal.

S.S.S. DRIVES OUT RHEUMATISM

The primary cause of Rheumatism results from weak kidneys, constipation, indigestion, etc., forming impure accumulations in the system. These sour and ferment, causing uric acid, which is absorbed from the stomach and intestines into the blood. This changes the circulation from a thick, rich fluid to a thin, acrid stream, depositing inflammatory matter into the muscles, nerves, and joints. The longer the blood is allowed to remain in this impure condition the more severe will Rheumatism become. Gradually the muscles harden and lose their elasticity, the joints begin to stiffen, and frequently calculous deposits form knots at the finger joints. There is just one way to CURE Rheumatism, and that is to cleanse the blood of the uric acid poison. S. S. S., by removing every particle of the cause and PURIFYING the blood, cures Rheumatism permanently. S. S. S. eliminates the uric acid sour, inflammatory matter, cools the acid-heated blood, furnishes the material for multiplying the rich, nutritious corpuscles of the circulation, and by its fine tonic effects assists the system to rapidly overcome the effects of the disease. Special book on Rheumatism and medical advice free. S. S. S. is for sale at drug stores. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

FRIDAY MARKET BEST OF WEEK

Increased Activity Shown, But Market Was Small and Uneventful.

PRICES UNCHANGED

Increased activity was shown in the local markets today. There were a few farmers in the city, more than at any other day during the week, but few, however, were on the Barr street market. Saturday, it is expected, will show a pretty good market there. The absence of farmers from the city this week has made butter a scarce article, that is good grades of it. But few eggs have come in. As a result the market price on both these products has remained firm all the week. It has not changed materially since Monday.

Grain prices remained unchanged. Millers report light receipts and with no apparent prospect of a change. Oats is coming in good supply and the price is 29c. Wheat is 85c, a point it has been for some time, and corn is quoted at from 40c to 44c. Eighteen loads of hay, six of oats and nine of corn passed over the city scales Friday.

THE MARKETS

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.

Chicago, Ill., March 17.—St. Patrick's day enthusiasts and other traders, too, were inclined to take the selling side of the wheat market this morning because of seriously meant dispatches from Kansas that fall-sown fields of that state were showing a dark green color and great vogor in a dozen counties, which did not get seed back last year. According to a leading crop expert, not an acre of ground in Kansas from the Missouri river to Newton had been abandoned, despite recent assertions to the contrary. He asserted, moreover, that the ground was full of moisture and that the plant was showing good evidence of deep roots. Aside from these reports, the crowd seemed inclined to bearishness on account of the lightness of outside trade. The opening was ¼c to ¾c lower to ⅝c higher. May started at 90⅝c to 90¾c, a shade down to a like amount up, and gradually declined to 90⅜c.

Purchases of a few large lots made corn relatively firm. May opened ⅜c higher at 49½c, but reacted to 49⅜c.

Although business in oats was small, a steady tone was manifest. May started the same as last night at 31¼c and rose to 31⅜c.

Selling by discouraged longs depressed provisions. First sales were unchanged to 5c off with, May options at $17.30 for pork, and $9.00 for lard. There was no quotation of ribs.

STOCKS AND BONDS.

The Day on Wall Street.

New York, March 17.—There was a preponderance of slight losses in the list today. The heaviest losers were Amalgamated Copper and Canadian Pacific, each of which declined ¾. Great Northern preferred was off ½ and Atchison advanced ⅜.

The initial heaviness was largely overcome, Canadian Pacific rallying a point from the lowest, and other favorite stocks also making up their losses. Trading, however, came to a halt on the rise.

Bear operators made renewed efforts this morning to depress stocks, but were able to accomplish little. Norfolk & Western improved a point, but there was a loss of equal amount in Baltimore & Ohio. Kansas City Southern gained 1 and American Agricultural Chemical 1¾. National Lead yielded 1¾. A decline of about 5 points in United Cigar on the curb was followed by a break of about half as much in the preferred stock, which is dealt in on the exchange. Bonds were irregular.

A rise of 1¾ in Interborough-Metropolitan preferred and of 1 to 2 points in several other specialities relieved to some extent the intense dullness and uninteresting character of the midday trading.

A drive against Missouri Pacific sent it down over a point to 52⅝, the lowest price in some weeks. The decline was attended with reports of dissatisfaction with recent developments in the company. Other stocks yielded slightly in sympathy, but very little stock changed hands.

PROBABLY FATALLY BURNED.

Portland, Ind., March 17.—The wife of Commissioner Via, of Jay county, was badly, if not fatally burned while burning hens' nests at their country home, east of Pennville. Portions of her body were burned almost to a crisp and heroic measures used to save her life.

The Knox Motto:

Don't Make Excuses
Make Good

Sounds easy enough—but it has worried a good many hat makers and a great many hat sellers.

Trying to get just the right shade, just the right curve or just the right crown, and at the same time produce something new in hats, often calls forth the excuses instead of "the hit."

Knox hats are "it." We've a lot of new ones ready right now—the 1911 crop.

CITY BREVITIES.

Miss Bertha Rieke has gone to Chicago to attend the millinery openings.

Following the regular weekly session next Tuesday night the members of the Fort Wayne Medical society will enjoy a banquet at the Commercial club rooms.

Anthony Wayne chapter of the American Woman's League gave a literary and musical entertainment in the Flick hall Tuesday evening in honor of the state regent, Miss Eleanor Foster. The program was very interesting and highly enjoyable, and the hall was artistically arranged in colors and prettily decorated with flowers by Miss Flick.

EFFECT OF MIND ON MATTER.

Heavy thoughts bring on physical maladies; when the soul is oppressed so is the body. When cares, heavy cogitations, sorrows and passions superabound they weaken the body, which, without the soul, is dead, or like a horse without a driver. But when the heart is at rest and quiet, then it takes care of the body and gives it what pertains thereunto. Therefore we ought to abandon and resist anxious thoughts by all possible means.—Luther's Table-Talk.

Stomach Distress

Stop It in Five Minutes With Mi-o-na Stomach Tablets.

Tell your readers that Meyer Bros. Co. has a prescription for indigestion, nervousness, dizziness, sick headache, sleeplessness and all diseases arising from an upset stomach that they guarantee will end their misery or money back.

Tell them the name of the prescription is MI-O-NA and that it is the same MI-O-NA that Wm. V. Mathews writes cured him. His letter reads:

"I was bothered for years with stomach trouble and gastritis. Food laid like lead in my stomach and fermented, forming gas. This caused a pressure on my heart, so that I choked and gasped for breath, and thought my time had come. Mi-o-na cured me after I had doctored without success."—Wm. V. Mathews, Bloomington, Ind.

Tell them not to suffer another hour but get a 50 cent box of MI-O-NA stomach tablets and renovate and purify the stomach at once.

MI-O-NA Stomach Tablets relieve stomach pains, sour stomach and distress after eating in five minutes.

They build up and put life and elasticity into the stomach and in a short time make it so strong that it can digest a hearty meal without any signs of weakening.

Large metal box 50 cents at Meyer Bros. Co. and druggists everywhere.

ROBBERY AT ROME CITY.

Bold Hoboes Steal Express Packages from G. R. & I. Station.

Rome City, Ind., March 17.—One of the boldest daylight robberies ever committed in this place occurred Wednesday afternoon about three o'clock when two hobo yeggmen entered the G. R. & I. depot and stole express packages containing ladies' wearing apparel and table linens, valued at approximately $35.

The discovery of the robbery was made by Ticket Agent M. F. Owen upon his return to the depot from dinner and he at onced informed Deputy John A. Jenings. While the robbers were looking over the plunder in a cottage on the mainland, Deputy Jennings made a bold capture and the robbers were taken into custody before they had time to even attempt to get away.

The prisoners were brought before Justice Long and arraigned and last evening they were taken to the county jail at Albion by Deputy Jennings, where the preliminary hearing will be held Friday. The prisoners gave their names as George Long and Philip Green ad their homes as Detroit. They were arrested on charges of grand larceny and if convicted will be sent to the state's prison to serve time for a period of from one to fourteen years.
